A good 4-blade ball bearing lawn mower for $5.50, at Longley's.

New Line Added at Jellerson, Rafter Co.

B. E. Cole of Manchester, N. H. Enters Local Firm

The active force at the Jellerson-Rafter Co. has been enlarged by the entrance of B. E. Cole, a shoe manufacturer at Manchester, N. H. who recently sold his interests there. Mr. Cole will add a new line, known as the Littleway lasted and stitched process. His method is unique in that it refines the appearance of a welted or McKay shoe and is certain to work for increased business in the Jellerson-Rafter Co. factory. Mr. Cole will be active both on starting and managing the new line. Very little change will be made in the personnel.

While the new shoe will be manufactured in the Jellerson-Rafter Co. factory the marketing will go forward under a corporation named the B. E. Cole Co.

It is understood a large percentage of the output will be genuine reptile shoes of which Mr. Cole is recognized as an authority and one of the foremost specialists. An inventory is being taken and the new corporation will start operating after some new machinery can be placed.

Mrs. E. D. Packard is ill and has undergone an operation at the hospital.

Mrs. Frank B. McSwiney of Boston came Saturday for over Memorial Day. She is the guest of Miss Della M. Noyes.

Mrs. Alta Sheen came from Limerick, Saturday, and is the guest of Mrs. Frank Longley over the week end and holiday.

Miss Mabel Wilkins, who has been with Mrs. Ella Ham, as housekeeper since last fall, left Saturday for West Princeton, where she will spend the summer.

Mrs. C. E. Osgood and Ralph S. Osgood spent Memorial Day with relatives at the old Sanborn homestead at Meredith Center, N. H.

Dr. W. L. Hasty returned from the C. M. G. Hospital, Friday, where he has been for a few weeks for treatment. His health is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Johnson and children have moved from Cottage St. to P. M. Walker's house on Main Street, South Paris.

The Norway Shoe Co. finished the run, Saturday, and completed the inventory, Monday. The shop started on the new run Wednesday, with enough orders to last some time.

Miss Elsie A. Anderson, state field nurse, went to her home in Wakefield, Saturday, to remain over Sunday and Memorial Day.

Alvin Duke and family who were burned out in the fire at South Paris, May 21, have moved to the Maxim Arcade building, Main, corner of Whitman St., Norway.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Gates have gone to housekeeping in the Matheson house, Main Street. Mrs. Marjorie Matheson Martin and her daughter and her grandmother have gone to their cottage at Papoose Pond for the summer.

Mrs. C. A. Stephens has received word of the death of Mrs. Florence Harris Hook of Montclair, N. J. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson P. Harris of Jersey City, N. J. and has been a frequent visitor at Mrs. Stephens'.

The Dennis Pike Real Estate Agency has negotiated the sale of the Fields farm, so-called, at North Paris, Me., from Leslie Mayhew to Mr. and Mrs. Eleas Rajala, both of South Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Perley E. May have been on a week's automobile trip to New York and were guests of Mrs. May's sister, Mrs. George P. Robinson and family. They also visited relatives and friends at Brighton Beach.

Thursday evening, May 18, the Veranda Club met with Mrs. Avis M. Davis, Pleasant St., for a regular meeting. On account of graduation, the Club met Wednesday evening, May 31, at the home of Mrs. Alice Blaquiere.

Tom Bisbee, who lives on the Magoun farm above North Norway, near the Greenwood line, was selling tomato plants here, Friday. He had 3,000 plants in five varieties and found many customers. All that remain unsold he will set out and market the crop later.

Winfield Snow, who has been an auto mechanic at Bristol, Conn., a number of years, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Agnes Currier, and other relatives here and in Auburn. He is the son of the late Harvey Snow, who was a shoemaker at the B. F. Spinney & Co., for a number of years.

Ground was broken last week for the foundation of St. Catherine's Catholic Church. The church building will be moved from its present location, corner Charles and Paris Streets, to the rectory lot. It will set back from Paris Street to the rear of the parish house and will be easily accessible on the Beal Street side.

Mrs. Alton L. Curtis is assisting the assessors to get out the town and corporation inventory and assess the taxes.

Richard Perkins, formerly employed in the Norway National Bank and until a few weeks ago with the Auburn Shoe and Leather Bank is stopping in North Waterford. He is a frequent visitor in Norway.

A rehearsal of the new Ark Mariners' Band was held in Masonic dining hall, Saturday evening. Ernest Hill, the director of the Shrine Band, and Clarence S. York, both of Augusta, were among the out of town musicians present. The band is rehearsing for the annual voyage of Oxford Council No. 1 Ark Mariners, in June.

Guy Harriman of Bridgeport, Conn., has been looking up acquaintances the past few days, while visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harriman of South Paris. He lived in Norway several years before serving an enlistment in the U. S. Army, then went to Bridgeport where he is in charge of a fleet of motor trucks.

Elizabeth Crockett Blake Tent, Daughters of Union Veterns held regular meeting Friday evening. An invitation was accepted to meet at Mrs. Emma Swan's cottage near Lake Pennesseewassee, Wednesday evening, June 14, for supper and the evening. Further plans will be made at the meeting of June 9. A short program was given for Mother's Day arranged by Mrs. Gladys Noyes.

Bennie Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Tucker, celebrated his eighth birthday Thursday and entertained four schoolmates in the afternoon from 3 to 5:30 o'clock. Games were played and in the peanut hunt, Glendon Calef won the prize and Peyson Luce, the booby. The other two guests were Lester Rich and Winfield Partridge. Mrs. Tucker served lunch in the dining room which was decorated prettily in pink and green. Bennie received many birthday gifts.

Pine Tree League Ready

New Uniforms For Norway-Paris Ball Tossers — First Game at Rumford — First Home Game Next Thursday. Schedule Announced

Norway-Paris team will remain in the Pine Tree League and this was settled at a public meeting Friday evening. With Oxford and Mechanic Falls out this year some talk started about getting up a smaller circuit of nearby towns, but no great interest was shown in the towns considered. Only two were represented at the meeting, consequently it was voted to stay with the Pine Tree crowd.

Immediately the committees went into action. New uniforms were the first problem and fifteen suits have been ordered and paid for by enterprising business men in Norway and Paris. A discount for cash was allowed and will go into the general fund for equipment.

On the back of each shirt will be the name and business of each donor, hence the players will literally be "sandwich men."

Those who contributed $10 each for the suits and a season's pass are Z. L. Merchant, dry goods; Clifford H. Davis, I. G. A. Stores; N. A. Cummings, I. G. A. Stores; Ripley & Fletcher Co., Fords; Records Meat Market; Norway Farmers' Union, Clark's Drug Store, Ashton's Drug Store, R. L. Sturgis, Chevrolets; Norway Buick Co., Geo. L. Sanborn, Sanborn's Service Station; Jim Applin, New Cafe; Meserve Lumber Co., and Norway Advertiser. Manager Odel C. Rich will wear a uniform contributed by the legal fraternity, Robert B. Dow, E. Walker Abbott, Judge Harry M. Shaw and Fred Rowell.

Manager Rich takes pride in the fact that he was the father of the Pine Tree League idea about eight years ago. From his suggestion has grown perhaps the most popular amateur baseball circuits in Maine. It started with the idea of keeping semi-pro out and has succeeded remarkably well. Some concessions have been made to give teams a break by allowing not more than two hired players. The plan has speeded up the game and worked in favor of the box office, which is about the only source of revenue.

Norway-Paris will put a smooth combination on the field and predict a successful season. They start at Rumford, on June 6 and will formally open at the fair grounds here, Saturday, June 8, with Wilton for the opponents.

Pine Tree League will have six teams and play a two-division schedule with strong holiday programs and possibly a few Sunday games, as follows:

FLORIDA TO MAINE

Many curiousities from the beaches in Sarosata County, Fla. are in the window and on counters at the Fletcher Candy Store. Mrs. Bella Fletcher, who collected most of the shells and curios the past three winters is an enthusiastic student of the science. The school children accepted her invitation to look over the strange things Wednesday afternoon and they had a great time asking questions and handling specimens. Mrs. Fletcher told many interesting stories about her experiences on collecting trips. She explained how live shells make tracks as they move about on the sand, much like the trails of a rabbit or other animals up north.

The kinds and varieties are too many to menton here for she counts her treasures by hundreds and half bushels. On the counters may be seen starfish, coral, sponges, Spanish moss, bamboo, century tree, sea beans, conch shells, sharks' petrified teeth, spiral shells, diamond back rattler skin with four rattles, tarpon scales, cow fish, horseshoe crabs and many other things strange to Maine natives.

Mrs. Fletcher is an artist not only with the paint brush but she has a knack of creating flowers, beasts and birds with bits of shells and feathers. The collection is well worth a visit for the whole display is interesting and instructive, especially with Mrs. Fletcher's descriptions.

The Misses Margaret A. and Jane P. Baker, Portland, were in town, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kelleher entertained a party of friends from Friday until late Tuesday. The men spent most of the time fishing and all enjoyed a picnic Memorial Day. in spite of rain. The visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Costello of New York and William Hankinson of Revere, Mass., a pressman on the Boston American.

The poppy sale in Norway netted $51. Angie Verenis sold 224 flowers and heads the list. The poppies were made in the government hospital at Togus and carried a copyright label to show the token was made by a needy veteran. Mrs. Bella Fletcher in charge of the local sale, states the sum will be devoted to welfare work in American Legion families and in other deserving cases.

The joint meeting of the Barton and Browning Reading Clubs, Friday afternoon, was at the home of Mrs. L. H. Cushman, with Mrs. Emma B. Howe of Rumford, Oxford County District Director, as the honor guest. Mrs. Jessie Whitman, president of the Barton Club, and Mrs. Edith Bartlett of the Browning Club greeted the honor guest. Mrs. Whitman read a paper on "Early Days of Oxford County" which was of much interest and will be published in the Norway Advertiser. Mrs. Helen Pendexter read her original poem, on the charter members of the club, in honor of a special observance. Mention was made of the two charter members, one from each club, who had died recently. Mrs. Howe spoke interestingly on club matters in general and during the questionnaire answered many pertinent questions. About twenty were present.

Memorial Day Exercises

Weather Unfavorable, but Program Carried Out

Overcast sky in the morning developed rain just before the procession started, near the head of Main Street, and kept many from the ranks.

In spite of unfavorable conditions, the procession included the band, Sons of Veterans, American Legion, Co. C 103rd Infantry, the Women's Organizations and the Boy Scouts. Two hundred and more school children carried flags. Two G. A. R. veterans in an automobile were Charles C. Brackett of Norway and Comrade Stimpson, a member of Harrison Post.

When the parade reached Witherell Park, wreaths were placed at the D. A. R. Memorial and Civil War monument in memory of the veterans of four wars.

At Norway Pine Grove Cemetery, songs were sung by the children, who were led by Rev. C. B. Rheiner. At the close of the program, four boys, Carleton Dyer, Harold Brown, Harlow Adkins and Robt. King sounded taps in different parts of the cemetery.

The services at the bridge on Horne Street in memory of the sailor dead was carried out in spite of rain. Mrs. Gladys Noyes conducted. Prayer was made by Mrs. Eva Abbott, chaplain of the Daughters; Mrs. Helen C. Bickford represented the Revolutionary War and she paid her tribute, she scattered flowers on the water. Mrs. Mearle M. Brown represented the Civil War; Mrs. Linnie Bartlett the Spanish War; Mrs. Annie Prince the World War and Mrs. Della Klament the Unknown Soldier.

After ranks were broken at American Legion Hall, ice cream cones were given to the children who marched.

The exercises were continued in Legon Hall with a program, including a selection by the band, and singing. An address by Wesley Hammond of South Paris is was a review of four wars and a tribute to the women who did much back home for the success of the cause.

Dinner was served at 1:30 in the Legion dining hall to the patriotic orders and Military company.

TO THE CHILDREN WHO MARCHED MEMORIAL DAY

It seems only fitting and proper, after the splendid representation on Tuesday, to make public acknowledgement of our appreciation and thanks to the school children of our town. It having been my happy privilege to take charge or assist in taking charge of the children for several years on Memorial Day, I am taking it upon myself, also, to thank them. Each year the children respond more readily and each year in larger numbers. Never have they made a better showing or marched better, than this year and it was, to say the least, rather uncomfortable, marching in the rain.

Too much cannot be said in appreciation of their willingness. What a splendid thing it would be if the parents of these children would show as much patriotism as the children themselves and attend the services in honor of our American soldiers and the flag for which they fought. Surely three hours out of a whole year is little enough to give.

The splendid showing of our Boy Scouts is something to commend and the four buglers should be congratulated on the fine manner in which they did their parts.

CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

Norway High school and Gould Academy are tied for first place in the school baseball league of Oxford County. The rubber will be played Wednesday, June 7, at 5.15 on the fair grounds.

Gould Academy has played seven and lost two. Norway lost one in seven games. Should the Bethel boys win another game will be necessary to decide the ownership of the trophy.

By a trick of fate, common in baseball, Norway lost to South Paris Wednesday, 6-2 after an unbroken season of victories. Gould Academy was not far behind on a similar program. They dropped one game to Norway early in the season and from then undefeated until Fryeburg Academy snatched one early this week.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry H. Nevers of Lawrence, Mass., spent Memorial Day with relatives in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Rowe of Portland were guests, Sunday of her father, Thomas Thibodeau.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Andrews and family of Peabody, Mass. spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Andrews.

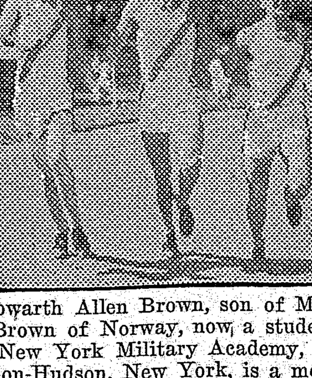
Norway Lodge I. O. O. F. will work the third degree Tuesday, June 6. Supper at 6:30 p. m. All not solicited may carry pastry.

L. A. Davis of Westfield, N. J., and H. B O'Brien of Providence, R. I., are expected Thursday for a vacation at the lower camp of Leslie Vivian.

Rev. Christian Groezinger, a former minister of the Norway Congregational Church, is visiting in this vicinity. He is the guest of Rev. Rensel H. Colby and family at South Paris.

The Win-One class of the Methodist church will meet Wednessday evening, June 7, at the home of Mrs. Minola Aldrich. Mrs. Elizabeth Gammon will be in charge of the program. Subject "What Constitutes Good Neighbors." Roll call will be answered with "friendly quotations.

Dr. and Mrs. Stewart Mitchell of Rapid City, S. D. were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Philip Greenleaf over the week-end. Dr. Mitchell was a college mate of Dr. Greenleaf at Northwestern University, Chicago. He is in the Forsythe Dental clinic in Boston at the present time but is going to Southern Wisconsin in three weeks to locate.



Howarth Allen Brown, son of Mrs. I. M. Brown of Norway, now a student at the New York Military Academy, Cornwall-on-Hudson, New York, is a member of a Cadet trio that has made sports history at the Cornwall School.

Brown, together with Florea and Hexter are the crack half-milers of the Kaydets Track squad. In four of the seasons meets this trio have so far outdistanced their rivals that they have swept across the tape, hand in hand, to bring every point for the event to N. Y. M. A.

Why You Should Have Stock in the New Bank

Help End The Bank Holiday In Norway and Vicinity — Few More Shares To Go.

First, because being without commercial banking facilities since March 4th, has brought home to us all in a very forceful manner, how necessary it is to the continued growth and prosperity of this section of Maine to have a commercial bank. Everyone from wage earner to employer is affected, and without a bank business will languish and go elsewhere.

Second, because it will hasten the liquidation of the Casco Mercantie Trust Company and make available a part of the depositors' money more quickly. The new bank will be in position to extend credit to those entitled to borrow, thus enabling them to pay their loans at the Casco.

Third, because in our opinion an investment in the stock of the new bank should prove to be a profitable investment. A commercial bank always paid in the past and this new bank will open for business without any bad loans or investments; it will begin at the bottom of a depression with the prospect of a gradual upturn in values and prices and business activity. Depositors will have confidence in a new bank conducted under the supervision of a board of directors composed of conservative and successful business men.

The amount sought is $50,000 capital composed of 2,500 shares of the par value of $20 each. It is being sold for $25 per share to provide paid in capital of $50,000 and surplus of $12,500.

We have subscribed to stock of the new bank from a sense of duty; we want the community to grow and prosper and we are willing to do our share. We believe it to be your duty to assist in the matter which means so much to us all. Just get in touch with any one of the following committee and place your subscription and let's finish this week so a bank can be opened for business without further delay. Do it now! Only 400 shares of the 2,500 needed remain unsubscribed.

County Convention

Women's Christian Temperance Union

The 46th annual convention of Oxford County W. C. T. U. was held in Norway Methodist Church, Thursday, May 25, commencing at 10 a. m. with nine of the thirteen Unions represented.

Mrs. Minola Aldrich, president of the county organization, was in the chair Mrs. Anna Kinney of Rumford conducted the devotional service, her subject being "The Abiding Consciousness of the Heavenly Silence." Rev. Esther Haskard gave a vocal solo, selecting an appropriate hymn. The roll was called by the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Anna W. White, of West Paris, and 11 county officers were found in the meeting. Mrs. Geertrude Stevens Leavett of Portland was invited to sit on the platform. The secretary reported a total membership for the county as 227 which did not include the new Unions in Waterford and Kezar Falls. Besides these two a new Union has been formed at Oxford.

Mrs. Lora S. LaMance, field worker of the National body, was introduced and she called attention to the flowers on the platform and told of the origin of the Flowering Almond and also of the purple lilac which for centuries was the "Royal Flower" of England and brought to the United States. She told how George Washington rode 50 miles on horseback to secure a sprig of this shrub. So what seems common to people these days is really historic.

The address of welcome was given by Mrs. Mabel Brown, president of the Norway Union and the response by Miss Isabel H. Stickney, of East Brownfield. The president appointed as Pages for the day Mrs. Anna Lewis and Mrs. Edith Buck; for the Credential committee, Mrs. White, Rev. Esther Haskard and Mrs. Martha Kendall; for Courtesy committee, Mrs. Anna Kinney; judges on posters, Miss Isabel Stickney, Mrs. Dalzell and Mrs. Grace Howard. Two guests who came with Mrs. Leavett, Mrs. Arthur Packard, treasurer of the Cumberland County Union and Mrs. Fred H. Libby of Scarboro were introduced. Miss Elsie Hannaford of Portland read an interesting paper on Temperance Literature and also told of the new button that is to be worn on the coat lapel. Rev. Haskard offered the noontide prayer in the absence of Mrs. Hugh Gillis of Oxford.

A public dinner was served by the Ladies' Aid in Community Hall, and well patronized.

Mrs. Gertrude Stevens Leavett presided at the meeting of the executive board at 1 o'clock. The following directors of departments were elected:

Literature, "Union Signal" and "Star"—Mrs. Ella Wright of South Paris.
Press Committee—Mrs. Lucy French, Rumford Center.
Memorial Service—Mrs. Ida Colby, South Paris.
Christian Citizenship—Mrs. Elizabeth Joslin, Norway.
Temperance, Missionary and Sabbath Observance—Rev. Esther Haskard, Rumford Center.
Y. P. B. and L. T. L.—Mrs. Grace Howard, Brownfield.
Flowers and Relief Work—Mrs. Luella Grant, Ridlonville.
International Relations—Mrs. Elizabeth W. Morton, South Paris, and Mrs. Winifred Dalzell, Bethel.
Organization—Miss Ruth Miller, South Paris.
S. T. I. and Sunday School—Mrs. Mabel Brown, Norway.
Child Welfare, Mothers' Meetings, White Ribbon Recruits—Mrs. Myrtle Lapham, Bethel.
Parliamentary Usage—Mrs. Florence Wade. Brownfield.
Motion Pictures—Mrs. Katherine Cummings, Norway.
Exhibitions and Fairs—Mrs. Gertrude Libby, Norway.
Resolutions—Mrs. Jennie P. Perkins, West Paris and Mrs. Harriet Brown of Norway.

Mrs. Grace Howard was chosen as field worker, her itinerary to be left to the committee.

Out of the 13 Unions in the county, nine were present. They were Bethel, Norway, South Paris, West Paris, Rumford Center, East Brownfield, Bryant Pond, Oxford and Waterford.

Mrs. Minola Aldrich gave a stirring message. A short letter was read from the State president, Mrs. Althea Quimby. There was special music and offering. A memorial service was conducted by Mrs. Ida M. Colby of South Paris for the five members and two honorary members who have died this year. Mrs. Esther Anderson of Norway sang a solo, and the group joined in singing the county song.

During the children's hour, Mrs. Lora S. LaMance addressed the young people, telling them of the Indians whom she knew in the west. She applied their methods of learning to the manner that these children would have to learn to overcome difficulties during their youth.

The rhythm band under the direction of Mrs. Pearl Cook Kilborn, played two of the selections that were played at the Portland State contest. Two new white ribbon recruits were James E. Blacquiere and John Jacobsen.

Mrs. Annie Kinney gave the reports of the county committee, and the judges announced the awards for the county-wide poster contest. The winners were, first, Eleanor Aldrich, Norway; second, Shirley Welch, West Paris; third, Rita Tuttle, Paris Hill; honorable mention, Elva Jackson, North Paris.

Mrs. Gertrude Stevens Leavett, vice president of the World Convention, spoke on anti-ratification.

The following county officers were elected:

Honorary President—Mrs. Elizabeth W. Morton, South Paris.
President—Mrs Minola Aldrich, Norway.
Vice Pres.—Mrs. Anna Kinney, Rumford.
Corr. Sec.—Mrs. Anna W. White, West Paris.
Rec Sec.—Mrs. Harriet Eliopoulos, East Brownfield.
Treasurer—Mrs. Lulu E. Thurlow, South Paris.
Auditor—Mrs. Lucy Edwards, South Paris.
Organist—Mrs. Agnes Morton.

The evening session was opened with selections by the Norway High School orchestra, and the scripture and prayer service was conducted by Rev. G. H. Newton. This was followed by a selection by the orchestra and two selections by the high school girls' glee club. Norman Hale, winner of the W. C. T. U. medal contest, repeated his selection, "Cigarette," and Miss Irene Freeman read a selection, given at the high school prize speaking contest, "Tommy Brown."

Mrs. Lora S. LaMance opened her address by likening the scriptures of 3,600 years ago, to today. She stated that the United States was the 25th country that had tried to control the liquor traffic. In 24 countries, the plan had failed. She extolled Frances Willard, founder of the W. C. T. U. and told of the prejudice due to drink, and the trial of those working for the cause of the organization, giving many facts and figures to substantiate her claim. Mrs. LaMance scored women who refused to register and vote, and appealed to the church people to vote.

Baseball

South Paris H. S. 6; Norway H. S. 2

Contrary to the line offered by dopesters, South Paris high school smashed the perfect record of Norway high at the fair grounds, Wednesday afternoon.

Slattery, of Paris, was at his best and held the Norway hitters to 3 singles and a double; his opponent, Hall, was nicked for 7 singles and 2 doubles. Norway excelled in fielding misplays, a number being the expensive kind. Summary:

DOGS MAY BE QUARANTINED

A quarantine on dogs in Norway is expected to be put into effect this week. When it comes, the animals must be shut up for a time, to be determined by a state man who is expected here to give instructions.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Jordan of Rutland, Vt. visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Jordan, Danforth Street over the week end and holiday.

Mrs. Mary T. Cubberly of Elizabeth, N. J., writes that she will not be able to come to the lake until about August first. She plans to let her cottage during the time preceding her arrival.

Fred Kelley of Richmond visited with friends here the first of the week. He returned to Auburn, Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gammon, who were in town a short time after supper. Fred is recovering from a sick spell of three weeks, but will return soon to the shoe shop where he is a cutter.

Prayers were held Wednesday morning for Barbara Ethel, the infant daughter of Charles W. and Alice W. (Harriman) Noyes, from the Spiller Funeral Home. Rev. Conard B. Rheiner officiated. The child was born Saturday and lived until Monday. Interment was in Pine Grove Cemetery.

The Glee Club of the Nasson Institute, under the direction of Madam Cora Richmond, was heard over the air from WCSH Wednesday evening. Miss Ismay Aldrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Aldrich, is a member. While in Norway high school she received vocal instruction from Miss Josephine Rand of the faculty.

All Spanish War Veterans in this vicinity are expected to attend the reunion at Harry Brown's Camps, Papoose Pond, East Waterford, Sunday, June 18. The families also are invited. Picnic lunches will be carried. Charles Morse is making the arrangements and is anxious to get in touch with all veterans before that date.

Mrs. Sadie Allen and son Leon Millett, who have been caretakers at Round Pond since the death of Mr. Allen last winter moved to South Paris this week and Oliver J. Merrill of Norway has commenced work there. Mrs. Allen and niece, Miss Evelyn Cushman, R. N. of Auburn are opening a community hospital in the Alfred Jackson house, corner of High and Gothict Streets at South Paris.

Norway Churches

Methodist

Services next Sunday at 10:45 and at 7:30. The pastor will bring the message. Last Sunday, Mrs. Grace Calef brought to the morning worship a very pretty vocal solo which was much appreciated. The sermonic theme was based upon the topic of "suffering and imperfection" and the evening theme was the "suggestiveness of Triumphant Personality."

Universalist

Next Sunday is Children's Day. Morning Worship at 10 o'clock. Rev. Conard B. Rheiner, the minister will preach on "The Way of the Child." The Universalist Vested Choir will sing "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" (Carrie B. Adams) and "Bless The Lord" (Fred B. Holton.) The Christening service will follow the sermon. Parents and infants should be in the Vestry not later than 10.45 a. m.

The Sunday School will hold appropriate exercises in honor of the occasion which will take place in the church auditorium. The program is in charge of Mrs. Nora Harlow and Earl Pierce. Promotion certificates will be awarded at this last session of the school until fall. Everybody is invited.

On Wednesday, June 14, another family-get-together will be held at the Country Club with Mrs. Maud DeCoster as hostess. Those not solicited will please bring pastry.

Baptist

Friday: instead of Thursday this week the C. E. will meet at 7.30. Leader, Myra Haskell. Topic, "How May We Be True To The Missionary Spirit of Jesus?"

Saturday: Men's Prayer Circle at 7.00.

Sunday: Morning Worship at 10.45 with sermon by the Pastor. Soloists, Inez McAllister and Chester P. Gates. Bible school at 12.00. Evening meeting at 7.00.

We shall observe Sunday, June 11, as Children's Day. All welcome to our services.

Congregational

Church School 10 a. m., Men's Class, 10:15, with discussion of "Jesus Facing Betrayal and Denial." Morning worship and sermon, 11 a. m. This Sunday will be celebrated as Young People's Day, and members of the Senior and Junior Young People's Societies will participate in the service.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society met in the Congregational Church, Wednesday, May 31. Otho Roberts and Richard Saleeby told good stories as part of the program. Robert Easton and Warren Roberts led the devotional. The hike is to be on June 1st, weather permitting. The Society will take part in the morning service, June 4th, at which time the society pins will be awarded to those who have won them.

The Ladies Sewing Circle will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Sampson, and there will be work and a social hour.

MRS. S. J. RECORD

Mrs. Clementine T. Record, widow of Samuel J. Record, died after a long illness, early Wednesday, May 24, at the home of her son, Arthur N. Record, High Street, in Oxford.

Mrs. Record was born in Buckfield, December 14, 1849, the daughter of Martin and Rachel Turner, and resided in Norway several years where her husband conducted the S. J. Record Co. store and was a hardware salesman. She is survived by two sons, Arthur of Oxford and Everett of South Paris. Mr. Record died in 1920. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

PRESIDENT PRESENTS DIPLOMA

The graduating exercises of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland, were held this Thursday at noon and was broadcast. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Clark heard it over the radio and their son, Albert Hobbs Clark, was one of the graduates, graduating with the degree of Bachelor of Science. The diplomas were awarded by President Roosevelt.

"The Voice of the Outdoors"

"AIDS TO RESTORE WILDLIFE FOR ALL"

Burton H. Smith

Hello folks! With Spring in the air and a young man's fancy lightly turning to thought of fishing; when youth becomes restless and raises visions of favorite fishing pools, along trout streams or sunken logs in the lakes where the big black bass lurks, a mere youth of ninety years of age puts many of us to shame. He is Dr. Edwin K. Morse, Director of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Unlike most fishermen who complain about poor fishing, but do not seem to do anything about it, Dr. Morse is doing much to improve the trout streams of his native state of Pennsylvania. In writing of his experiences to the American Game Association, Dr. Morse tells the dramatic story of how he not only improved his fishing waters, but regained his health.

"A man who ignores his doctor's orders is usually either a fit subject for the psychopathic ward or the undertaker," says Dr. Morse, "But in my family there is a standing joke on the family physician which dates back to 1907. That is why at ninety I am able to relate some of my experiences of a quarter of a century in trout stream improvement.

"In May, 1907, I had a bad case of ptomaine poisoning and was sent to Atlantic City to take the hot water salt baths. I wired the caretaker of the Spruce Creek Club in central Pennsylvania to meet me at the station. He hauled me to the club in a sled, where I loafed around for four days.

"By that time I was strong enough to walk down to the stream. After the first week, I got a rope and an axe, went up onto the steep mountainside and cut down dead white pine trees about 12 inches in diameter. These I cut into about 10 to 12 feet, and succeeded in dragging and rolling them down to my favorite Spruce Creek, a stream where there was then very little cover for the fish.

"I then gathered up some planks and boards among the drift, along the bank, nailed them onto the logs, and made a float. I fastened telegraph wire to it, and the other end around a tree on the bank. The float was then pushed out into the stream. Rocks were gathered and carried out onto the float, and, in that way, the float was sunk to the bottom of the stream to provide homes for the trout.

"In two weeks I came back to Pittsburgh full of pep. When the doctor saw me, he said: 'No use to feel your pulse; there's nothing like the salt water baths of Atlantic City.'

"The doctor is now dead and I never told him how I deceived him. In fact, he sent me to Atlantic City twice for treatment and each time I got off at Spruce Creek and built shelters for the trout.

"That's how I began an improvement program twenty-five years ago, which I have kept up ever since," Dr. Morse concluded. All of us might follow his example and improve our fishing waters.

To secure better fishing, the real job is to improve food and cover conditions in angling waters. This is fish management of the first order.

It does not require a scientist to determine that fish cannot survive in barren streams. They cannot thrive where cover is deficient or food scarce. Fish, like all other creatures of Nature, must have the proper environment in order to live and increase their numbers. They must have sufficient cover, particularly the baby fish, in which to hide from their enemies, both from aloft and below.

Man, even in his wastefulness, is responsible for taking less than one percent of the fish that are destroyed every year. This is particularly true of game fish, the most sought after of the finny tribe by sportsmen. The parent game fish are often cannibalistic. Stomachs of the adult black bass during the spawning season reveal sometimes undigested parts of a hundred or more of their babies, and these, according to the fish experts, were devoured within the last twelve hours before taking the parent. Trout seem to be even more voracious, for fragments of two hundred or more baby trout have been taken from the stomach of one parent fish.

The stomach of the ordinary water snake has revealed the fragments of from sixty to seventy fingerling bass or trout, to say nothing of the smaller game fish such as perch and sunfish.

So it is easily seen how necessary cover figures in the lives of these baby fish alone. The adult fish, for the most part, are attacked by larger fish and by winged enemies from the air. Some fish experts estimate that where conditions are not favorable not more than one baby fish in a thousand reaches maturity to carry on the life cycle. Nature, however, has attempted to take care of this tremendous waste by endowing the average game fish with many thousands of eggs each year the greater majority of which hatch, so one can see the necessity of providing cover and food to bring as many of these fish as is possible to maturity.

Along with Spring comes a penetrating song, hardly welcome to any of us. It is the song of the mosquito, and there is a song of one particular mosquito that is especially dreaded, the shrill little buzz of the malaria-carrying host.

Science tells us now, that for years we have been contributing unwittingly to this enormous increase. Spring burning of the woods, the fields, and the swamps is responsible for this through the mysterious chemistry of Nature. Sheering away the scientific language, these learned men explain our error in this way. The usual swamp water is acid.

It is also a peculiarity in the life history of the malaria-carrying mosquito that her eggs will not hatch in acid water. Then along comes man and burns the woods, the fields, and the swamps, leaving a devastated area filled with ashes. The spring rains wash the chemicals of these ashes into the waters that drain the land and fill the swamps.

There being a great deal of lye among these chemicals, the reaction is alkaline, which neutralizes the acids of the swamp waters, removing the chemical element that has prevented the malaria-carrying mosquito from breeding therein. No one knows this soon than she and she promptly deposits innumerable eggs upon the waters unwittingly prepared for her by the men who dread her and spends millions of dollars a year in efforts to eliminate this disease carrier.

Then millions and millions clouds of this species are born to carry this dread disease far and wide. Of course the moral now that we know the verified learnings of science to cease burning the woods, fields and swamps.

Another great damage in this spring burning is the great toll of death it takes of wild birds and animals. Practically every bird nests in the spring, and most animals bring forth their young in this season of renewal of life. Babies by the millions are killed, when helpless little things are unable to escape the onrush of the seering flames. Not only are these helpless little fellows wiped out so cruelly by the thoughtlessness, but untold numbers of martyred mothers are burned to death through the bravery of their maternal love in remaining with their babies in futile effort to try and save them.

One has to witness just one such martyrdom to be converted to the idea of never setting fire to any part of the great outdoors in this season of motherhood.

Many of us who have set fires in the mistaken belief that the burning would help vegetation to grow faster are defeating our own purpose, for experts in horticulture and agriculture tell officials of the American Game Association that burning really retards the growing of grasses and all other green things.

A large percentage of the root stock is actually destroyed by fire. Those roots that do survive put forth weakened plants of grass or foliage that are deficient in nourishment and size, as compared to the same species on adjoining acres that were not burned over.

The usual object in burning woods, fields and sloughs under the mistaken idea that it will make the grass come up sooner has been to afford earlier pasturage for livestock, or that it kills out cattle ticks. Science, as stated before, has shown this belief is erroneous.

There are two other elements of major importance that enter into the burning of the land. These are erosion and floods. When burning kills root stocks in the ground, subsequent rains dig out the dead roots and start washes, which in time become gullies. These ruin valuable lands. Also a large proportion of the valuable topsoil is washed away from the slopes into the drainage systems. These are silted from the bottom up and soon the whole area of the lowlands becomes a swamp of stagnant waters.

Then with the spring rains, with the hillsides left more or less bare from the killing by fire of root stock, the rain waters run off rapidly, causing floods of varying degrees.

Two of the principal benefits to be derived from President Roosevelt's forestation plans will be the stopping of land erosion and the retarding of run-off waters that have caused such disastrous floods in the history of our country.

With the coming of spring and usual spring plowing, sportsmen are going far and wide among their farmer friends in an effort to assist President Roosevelt in his plan to withdraw unprofitable lands from agriculture before they are seeded to crops for this year.

While these sportsmen are good, loyal Americans and desire to assist their President in every way possible, being good sportsmen they frankly admit that they have an even larger axe to grind. They desire to sell the farmer the idea of letting that land that he does not need revert to nature and create several of the elements of suitable environment needed for the natural rearing of many desirable species of wild-life. In some cases necessary elements must be added by man.

Nor is the sportsman entirely selfish in his campaign to aid wild-life, in many cases for the enjoyment of himself and all others who desire to hunt, either with gun, camera, butterfly net, or binoculars. He secs the justice of compensating the farmer for whatever effort he may make toward managing his land so that it will produce larger numbers of game birds and animals.

Three years ago, representative sportsmen and officials of the governmental and conservation organizations wrote what is known as the American Game Policy, which, in a nutshell, is the idea of managing game as a crop through the control of its environment and to compensate the manager in whatever ways he and other parties at interest believe fair.

In President Roosevelt's plan to withdraw what he terms marginal lands from the uses of agriculture, sportsmen feel that game management has a big part. Much of this land, according to the announced desire of President Roosevelt, should be planted to trees. With this idea, the informed sportsman heartily agrees, for he himself has been advocating it for years. There are, however, many millions of acres of marginal land that are not suitable for forestation. On these lands the sportsmen believe that game management can be practiced in such a way as to enormously increase the game crop and afford an appreciable financial return to the farmers.

In much of the talk heard of this popular movement, responsible people of unquestionable judge have advocated that the farmers be paid in part for these lands that are retired. The sportsmen are heartily in accord with this idea and would add additional payment, if the farmer so desires, for the practice of game management upon these lands to increase wild-life for the enjoyment of all.

Each one presents its own particular problem. This is determined by the two parties and efforts are made to solve it to the best interest of wild-life desired.

Shortly before the hunting season opens, the farmer and sportsman again make a survey of the land and determine the approximate increase and the farmer is compensated upon that basis, the rate of compensation having been predetermined between them.

Still other farmers practice game management and sell hunting and trespass privileges to responsible sportsmen. This has been an unusual source of income to many farmers in practically every state in the Union, as testimony has been given to the effect that the farmers have more out of their game crops than the by-products, such as boarding sportsmen and their dogs, acting as guides to fishing parties in their streams or lakes where they have practiced environmental control for fish, too, than they have out of all their agricultural crop combined, therefore, may we urge every public-spirited citizen to think over these phases of nature and the big benefits that can accrue to so many, and to do this part in the best way he sees fit to bring about the increase of wild-life for the wise utilization of all.

WILSON'S MILLS

Work on Survey to Begin Soon—Shiebers at Sumner Camp—Annual Parish Meeting.

Robert Olson carried twenty from here to Colebrook, Thursday evening, to see the picture "State Fair." All report an enjoyable time.

E. H. Merrill, assistant engineer of the State Highway Dept., and Scott Stuart, accompanied by E. S. Bennett and Lawrence Littlehale, made a trip Tuesday and Wednesday over the proposed route from Wilson's Mills to Oquossoc. Mr. Stuart expects to begin work on the survey at once.

Several guides are at Parmachenee and Bosebuck Camps.

Dr. and Mrs. Leo Shieber of Bridgeport, Conn., are at their summer camp at Wm. Bryant's. They are accompanied by Mrs. Shieber's mother and father.

The annual meeting of the Umbagog Larger Parish was held at Upton, May 23rd. Mrs. Leon Bennett. Mrs. Hattie Bennett and Mrs. Wm. Hart attended from here.

Rev. Ronald Irons delivered the baccalaureate address to the graduates of the Aziscoos High School, Sunday, May 28.

Mrs. Mary Linnell was the guest of relatives over the week end.

Mrs. Lester Littlehale has returned from a visit with relatives in Sabattus.

JUST HUSBAND

"I want a man to do odd jobs about the house, run on errands, one who never answers back and is always ready to do my bidding," explained a lady to an applicant for a post in the household.

"You're looking for a husband, ma'am, not a servant!" said the seeker for work.

Real Estate Conveyances

Patriots and Partisans

The words Republican and Democrat are two very respectable words to the patriot, but to the partisan only one of the two is respectable, the other stands for all that is unrighteous in our government.

Political parties serve a useful purpose in this country. They may continue to be useful for years to come. Perhaps we could not get along without them and yet we sometimes wonder when partisan zeal goes the limit, just how much good they really have done the nation. Sometimes during a political campaign when partisan political spellbinders have convinced about half our people that the other half is out to do them, it almost makes one a radical. It makes one wonder if it would not be better to have one party, a party whose membership would be American citizens working together for the upbuilding of America. The key note of such a party would be co-operation, its purpose, the working out of America's destiny under the American form of government.

When loyalty to party takes the place of loyalty to country, when we vote for candidates just because of their party label and not because of their fitness for office, when we oppose measures that might be of service to the country just because they are sponsored by the opposition party, then partisanship becomes a curse along with religious bigotry, racial hatred and a few other chains that still bind our country.

At best, a political party is a means to an end, a convenient organization in which citizens who believe in the same governmental policies may unite their efforts. It is a convenient instrument for the threshing out of economic and political questions and for the moulding of public opinion.

Citizens of the United States may differ radically in their political and economic views and yet be patriotic Americans. In the average political campaign, however, political and personal abuse is applied without limit by spellbinders of the opposing parties. It has been stated by teachers in our public schools that one political campaign can undo much they have been teaching the children about American citizenship.

Is it right or fair to the nation to bring up our children to believe that one political party is composed of the saviours of the nation and that the other is composed of those who would ruin our land? What an inditement of millions of our fellow Americans. How much better Americans we would be if we could be non-partisan enough to acknowledge the good that has been gained for our country whether under a Republican or Democratic administration. Patriots and patriotism is not confined to any one party. There are splendid types of Americans in both parties. Then let us all unite as loyal Americans and resolve that the only rivalry we shall ever allow between the Republican and Democratic parties is the rivalry in doing good deeds for our country. Uniting our efforts as one people it will be possible to overcome the evil forces that have brought so much suffering to our land and to build up a better United States of America, a nation that shall in truth live up to the glorious principles on which it was founded. —Ralph M. Bacon.

LOYAL CITIZENS' DUTY

"It is the duty of loyal citizens to obey the laws and to insist upon their enforcement."—William Howard Taft.

Can parents who disobey the 18th Amendment expect their children to abstain from drinking? Can they expect their children to see any logical reason for obeying any law—the law of the home, or their country's law? Parents want their children to be the best, yet they are not willing to pay the price—the price of a good example.

The movement that resulted in the 18th Amendment began in 1851, when the first State adopted prohibition, and Maine was the first state.

Let us not throw down our arms. Let us not pass on to our children the necessity of fighting the battle for prohibition all over again.

THE STATE OF MAINE

I'm going back to dear old Maine,
The home I used to know,
Where Pine trees murmur in the woods,
And gentle breezes blow.
From old New York I'll gladly part
To be at home once more,
Where wild flowers bloom abundantly,
And roses 'round the door.
I've travelled East, I've travelled West,
The Southland I did see,
But of all the lands on this old globe,
The State of Maine for me.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas: God called unto His own one who was weary from weeks of sickness, but who through all was most patient and loving and our beloved Sister, Nellie Wiley, entered into her rest.

Resolved: That while our Sister abides now in that land where sickness is unknown and where pure joy abounds, we extend to those who remain here for a little longer and mourn for their wife and mother, our loving sympathy.

Resolved: That Julian Lodge has lost a member whose quiet, retiring nature won for her true friends rather than official rank and honor, and when health permitted, was often in the lodge room. While she could not readily hear, she got pleasure in the smile and handclasp and no act was too trivial for her to do for her family and friends. Her home was her haven and she was always there.

Resolved: That as we send these resolutions to the family and for publication, spread them upon our records as a token of respect and drape our charter as is our usual custom, may it all be done in memory of one whose friendship abides in Love and in Truth.

EDITH F. CHARLES,
AMELIA HUTCHINS,
M. EUNICE BENSON.
Committee on Resolutions.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas, the Reaper whose name is Death, has entered the portals of Suncook Grange, No 140, and removed Bro. Charles Barker to that great Grange above.

Resolved: That while we bow in humble submission to the will of Him, who doeth all things well, we sincerely mourn for our Brother who was ever ready to help in the Grange but realize that he has passed through that which we all must pass ere we enter "That paradise not made with hands eternal in the Heavens."

Resolved: That as a Grange, we extend our heartfelt sympathy to our bereaved Sister, his wife, and to all relatives who mourn their loss.

Resolved: That this tribute to his memory be placed upon our records, that our charter be draped, that a copy of these Resolutions be sent to the bereaved wife and a copy sent to the Norway Advertiser for publication.

ELLA C. McKEEN,
SADIE D. FLINT,

Three Junior Shorthand students successfully passed the 60-word Gregg Shorthand test and transcribed with at least a 95 per cent accuracy:

Gwendolyn Bicknell   Katharine McAllister
Impi Seilonen

The following 80-word transcripts are awarded to Seniors:

Beatrice Gallant	Laura Yates
Lila Emerson	Lona Noble
George Haskell

Two more of the Seniors have won their 100-word certificates, making a total of six having passed it.

Lila Emerson   Francis Howe

For taking dictation at 120 words per minute and transcribing with an accuracy of 96 and 97 per cent respectively the Gregg Co. award these gold pins to:

Christine Nelson   Lillian Heikkinen
Dorothy Pratt

The above certificates constituted a club and Francis Howe was awarded the Gregg 100-word shorthand pin for the best paper.

For writing at the rate of 50 or more words per minute for a period of ten minutes Competent Typist Certificates are awarded to the following:

Olive F. Martin   Beatrice Gallant
Francis Howe

Competent Typist Gold Pins to Lillian Heikkinen and Christine Nelson for writing at the rate of 60 words or more and having less than 5 errors. Time, 10 minutes.

Competent Typist at 40 words per minute awarded to Agnes Bancroft.

30-word certificates to:

Arthur Perry	Henry Dyer
Robert Reynolds	Sherwood Cleveland
Wayne Pike	Edna Roberts
Arline McDaniels

Bookkeeping certificates are awarded to students who have average rank for the year of 85 per cent or better, neatness in the books, and cooperative, business-like attitude during class hours. There are no Senior Certificates. The Junior and Sophomore Certificates will be awarded Thursday morning.

Two Senior Shorthand students have been awarded their 140-word Gregg Expert Silver Medals, but we are not able to award them at this time. This rate of speed is the first step toward court reporting and is an outstanding shorthand award. The medals may be gotten by the winners at Mrs. Klain's as soon as they come. Winners:

Lillian Heikkinen   Christine Nelson

REDDING AND SHAGG POND

Mrs. Martha Andrews of Sumner visited her sister, Mrs. Wallace Andrews, last week.

Mrs. Paige, of Sabattus, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Charles Hotham.

Ernest Jordan plowed, with his oxen for Merton Rowe, Monday.

Sunday callers in the place were Lynn Rowe, Mrs. Myrtle Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Martin, all of West Paris. Leland Andrews, Hartford, Mrs. Rena Hammond, Auburn, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Cole, East Sumner, Urban and Ivan Rowe of Buckfield, also Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cole.

We had a nice much-needed rain last Saturday.

Mrs. Dora Farnum and Archie Farnum of Rumford spent the week end with her daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Lapham.

Mrs. Harry Wheeler, Lucy and Danny Wheeler, Mrs. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dellinger, Nancy and Fiske Dellinger of Wakefield, Mass., spent a couple of days at Mrs. Wheeler's camp at Shagg Pond.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Wheeler were at Camp Moween from Friday evening until Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Park, Mrs. Ella Heald and Stephen Russell are spending some time at their camp here.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard, Mrs. Robert Wise and three children, of South Paris were at "Camp Altamyrteva" for a couple of days last week.

Welsford Lapham, Frank Moody and Dermont Robbins returned home, Thursday afternoon, from a successful fishing trip up in the Dead River regions.

H. H. Brown, Archie Farnum and C. W. Lapham spent Monday of this week fishing on Beaver Brook, above Andover. They had fairly good luck.

Dermont Robbins is loading two cars with wood, at East Sumner.

Abel Pulkkinen and son Oiva returned here, Monday, after spending the week end at their home in Minot.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the neighbors and other friends for the beautiful flowers and other expressions of sympathy during our bereavement.

NOTES FROM COUNTY EXTENSION WORK

D. H. Ridley, County Agent; Gilberta P. Watters, County Club Agent; Ada Brewster, Home Demonstration Agent

Brownfield Boys 4-H Club Learn Woodlot Improvement

Shepard's River 4-H Club of Brownfield held their last meeting on the Woodlot Demonstration plot of Charles Stickney. Mr. Stickney gave them an instructive talk on Woodlot Improvement. The boys practiced with the pruning saw and picked out trees that should be cut. A contest was held to see who could name the most trees in sight. Lloyd McLaskey won with nineteen selections to his credit. There was a 100 per cent attendance. A judging champion ribbon was awarded to Junior Thompson for being the best judge at the poultry judging contest held in March. The next meeting will be held at J. W. G. Walker's orchard. The meeting was adjourned to Burnt Meadow Pond where a weenie roast was held.

Miss Betty Rolfe, secretary of the Busy Bees 4-H Club at Mason, reports that they devoted the last meeting to a discussion on health. Each member gave a health rule to observe daily.

Transplanting tomato plants and building hotbeds was featured at the last meeting of the Lake Christopher Garden Club in Greenwood. Recreation consisted of golf and baseball. The next meeting will be held at the home of the leader, George Emmons, May 12.

Felix 4-H Club of West Paris gave a supper and entertainment for the benefit of their parents at the church vestry May 8th. During the evening, a judging contest was held on buttonholes and hems. Recreation consisted of games. Twenty-five attended this meeting.

Andover "Leave the Play and Work a Day" 4-H Club reorganized recently. Nine members are enrolled in the garden project. Walter Bailey will be in charge. The newly elected officers are:

President—Albert Dunn.
Vice Pres.—Elmer Parrott.
Secretary—Harry Dunn.
Treasurer—Clarence Bailey.

Club meetings will be held regularly on Friday evening of each week.

Uneeda Garden 4-H Club at Locke's Mills devoted their last meeting to a Health program. The roll call was answered by each member giving a health rule. During the meeting, health stories were read, demonstration on "Mixing Poison Bran Mash" by Keene Swan was given and a general review of the year's work was taken up. The girls' club was guest at this meeting.

Pleasant Valley 4-H Club of West Bethel devoted their last meeting to Mothers' Day exercises. At the close of the meeting, Maybaskets were distributed to the mothers.

Willing Workers 4-H Club of East Hebron held an all day meeting Saturday at the church vestry. Dinner was prepared by the Cooking and Housekeeping girls. The sewing girls worked on their projects.

Miss Anne Barrows of Fryeburg spoke on "Vegetables and Flower Gardens" at the May meeting of the Brownfield Farm Bureau. Miss Barrows' garden is famous and her talk was much appreciated by the ladies. Ladies from Fryeburg and Hiram Farm Bureaus were the guests for the day.

The Pine Tree 4-H Club and Forache 4-H Club of East Stoneham held a joint supper and social. The money earned will be used to buy wall paper and garden seeds. The girls' club is enrolled in Room Improvement with eight members; the boys with ten members, are taking the Garden project.

Miss Alice Willis, Bethel, home management leader, has just celebrated her 79th birthday. She seldom misses a training class and never a meeting in her own community. She is the oldest project leader in the county.

One Michigan woman did over her kitchen and thus saves 300 steps per meal, a total of 70 miles per year. "It isn't that I mind walking," she said, "but walking and getting nowhere isn't even good exercise."

Oxford County women are interested in making their kitchens more convenient. "Storage Spaces in the Kitchen" is a project which helps them to work more efficiency by grouping the necessary utensils all together at the place where they are used. It means "step-saving" with virtually no cash outlay. The project comes under home management and Mrs. Helene Bubier, South Paris, is the county leader. Communities scheduling this project are: Roxbury, South Paris, Norway, Andover, East Bethel, Dixfield, Brownfield, Fryeburg, Middle Intervale, Bethel, Hiram, Peru and Upton.

4-H Special Contests July 29

Style Dress Revue, Baking, and Young Farmer contests will be held in South Paris, July 29. Winners in these contests will be eigible to attend State Camp and compete in the state-wide contests, where several money prizes will be awarded.

We need more contestants in these contests. Following are lists of members enrolled to date:

Style Dress Revue: Mary McLaskey, East Brownfield; Marion Walker, Brownfield; Margaret Fraser, East Andover; Eleanor Heald, Buckfield.

Baking Contest: Bessie Walker, Norway; Olive Martin, Norway; Ruth Newton, Norway.

Young Farmer

As yet no one has enrolled in the Young Farmer contest. Full particulars may be secured from the county club agent, or the community local leader.

A judging contest on hems was a feature at the last meeting of the Buckfield Bees 4-H Club at the high school.

Busy Workers 4-H Club of Canton are featuring a 4-H club program for the Grange. Two demonstrations will be given at this time as well as club plays and other entertainment.

The Top Knotch 4-H Club of Dixfield held a mothers' meeting recently. Dinner was prepared and served by the club members. During the meeting, each mother was presented with a pink. The next meeting will be held May 26 at the secretary's home, Lendall Drown.

Entre Nous 4-H Club of Buckfield devoted their last meeting to judging muffins.

Pennesseewassee Cooking and Housekeeping girls held an all day meeting Saturday, May 20, at the leader's home, Mrs. Buck, on Pike Hill in Norway. A demonstration on bread making was given and each girl had practice in kneading. The business meeting was held outdoors. Each girl answered the roll by telling the number of hours of housework done and different dishes served. A majority of the girls have more than the minimum requirements completed and recorded on their account sheets. A demonstration has been selected and will be given in two weeks.

Mrs. Fred Bennett was chosen food leader of the South Paris Farm Bureau to succeed Mrs. Bessie Barker. Mrs. Barker is moving to Fryeburg and her resignation was accepted with regret.

MAINE KITCHENS ARE BEING IMPROVED

"A maximum amount of ingenuity and a minimum amount of money spent on improvement characterize the 60 Maine kitchens enrolled in the 1933 Kitchen Improvement Contest," says Edna M. Cobb, home management specialist for the Extension Service, who visited 18 of the kitchen owners last week.

"Who would guess for instance that the cereal closet right back of the stove originated from old wooden boxes carefully planed and painted, or that the pretty green kitchen stool under the open sink that used to be closed in, was the workmanship of the husband who followed printed directions given out by the Extension Service! Made to order to fit the person who was to use it, what more could be desired!"

Miss Cobb visited 5 kitchens in Oxford County and was delighted with the well thought out plans and keen resourcefulness shown by the families of the contestants. Women enrolled in the contest are:

Mrs. Rose Swan, South Paris.
Mrs. Myrtle Clifford, Bryant Pond.
Mrs. Louise Buswell, Buckfield.
Mrs. Alvah Hendrickson, North Paris.
Mrs. Mary Ladd, Bethel.
Mrs. John Anderson, Bethel.
Mrs. Herbert Morton, North Newry.
Mrs. John Curtis, Mexico.
Mrs. Gladys Tyler, East Bethel.
Miss Agnes Holman, Dixfield.
Mrs. Hattie Dailey, Canton.

Mrs. Myrtle Clifford, Bryant Pond, will conduct the meetings on the upholstering of furniture at the West Paris and North Rumford Farm Bureaus. At West Paris she will be assisted by Mrs. Margie Kimball of West Paris and at North Rumford by Mrs. Edith Jackson, Bryant Pond.

Toilet Soap Recipe

Cook a large cup of rolled oats in about 2 quarts of water. Strain and use that water for dissolving potash, borax and sugar. If it seems too thick, add more water.

5 lbs. grease melted
1 can potash, dissolved in
3 pts. of lukewarm water
3 T. of borax dissolved in
1 cup of water
2 T. sugar
1 cup of household ammonia

When pouring water on potash, wear old gloves and glasses if you have them. Use a wooden stick or paddle to stir with and put the potash in a granite or earthern dish to dissolve. When all ingredients are cold, pour ammonia, borax and sugar into potash and stir well, then pour slowly into melted grease, stirring constantly for 10 minutes. Pour into molds and cut in desired shape. Add 1-2 cup of glycerine, also some bergamont, or anything for scent.

—Mrs. Ada Durrell, Bethel, Me.

Tomatoes Merit Wide Use Food Specialist Claims

How many tomato plants should we set out? This question is before many people right now who have their plants in their kitchen hot bed ready for transplanting. "Allow six to ten plants per person," says Therese E. Wood, foods specialist for the Extension Service, who adds: "This will allow plenty to eat during the growing season and enough to can to allow about two servings a week during the rest of the year." Extolling the merits of the tomato, Miss Wood says, "No other vegetables gives quite so many kinds of value for the money, and no other is more readily available, in one form or another, in all parts of the country at all times of the year. We have nothing to match the tomato in flavor, in color, or in variety of possibilities for the table.

"If you doubt this, try to imagine what your meals would be like without the 'love apple' as it used to be called; no tomato juice for cocktails, no tomato soup, and no tomato flavor in vegetable or chicken creole soup; no catsup or chili sauce, no scalloped or stuffed tomatoes, no macaroni with tomatoes, no tomato omelet, no tomato preserves, no tomatoes for Swiss steak and meat loaf, and no sliced tomato. Is there any other one article of food that is utilized in quite so many ways?"

4-H Special Contests

Style Dress Revue is open to any girl enrolled in the Senior Sewing 4-H Club project in 1933 who has completed two years of club work in this project. All entrants must enroll with the county Extension agents as soon as possible. Those girls who have already enrolled are:

Mary McLaskey, E. Brownfield.
Marion Walker, Brownfield.
Margaret Fraser, East Andover.
Eleanor Heald, North Buckfield.
Agnes Howe, East Bethel.

Baking Contest is open to any girl enrolled in the Senior Cooking and Housekeeping project in 1933 who has completed two years of club work in this project. Entrants to date for this contest are:

Bessie Walker, Norway.
Olive Martin, Norway.
Ruth Newton, Norway.

Young Farmer Clothing is open to any girl who on May 1 is not in high school nor yet 21 years of age, except those girls who are attending or who have attended a Normal School or college. The object of this contest is to encourage more girls to make more wearing apparel for themselves or members of their families.

Full particulars on these contests may be had from the Farm Bureau office, So. Paris. The winner in each county will be eligible to attend the State Camp at Lewiston and to compete in the Statewide contests where there are several money prizes to be offered.

Enrollments should be in by the first of June.

The contests will be held the latter part of July.

4-H Club News

Edith Hobson, secretary of the Crooked River 4-H club of Waterford, reports that their last meeting was devoted to health rules. Mrs. Ralph Brandon, former leader and nurse, had charge of the meeting. Under new business a Circle supper was planned for the 20th of June.

Willing Workers 4-H Club of Norway devoted their last meeting to judging potatoes. The next meeting will be held at the home of the local leader, Alpheus Jackson, at two o'clock, Saturday afternoon, June 3.

Distributing flowers to the elderly people of the community will be the feature of the next meeting of the Snappy Eight Boys 4-H club of East Bethel.

GREENWOOD—TUBBS DIST.

Callers at Will Yates', Sunday, were Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Swift of South Paris, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Ring and son, Billy and Lena Yates of Bryant Pond. Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Whitman and family of Greenwood City and Toivo Hiekkinen of West Paris.

Mrs. John Mustinen called on Stella Millett, Thursday afternoon.

Floribel Nevens spent the Memorial holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown, at Poland.

Sidney Ring of Bryant Pond and Glenwood Yates went fishing Sunday, returning with a nice string of trout.

TRIBUTE TO FORMER TEACHER

Dr. Z. Willis Kemp, a native of Otisfield, and principal of Norway High School, 1884-5, has former pupils and other friends who will regret to learn of his retirement as principal of Sanborn Seminary at Kingston, N. H., after a continuous service of 32 years. Dr. Kemp was graduated at Bridgton Academy in 1879; Bowdoin College, 1884, with A. B. degree, and received the A. M. in 1887 and Ph. D. at Illinois Wesleyan University in 1895. An editorial tribute in the Gazette is as follows:

"He has done excellent work at Sanborn. A well-educated man of splendid character and kindly personality, he has made a notable record. During the years that he has been the school's principal, the size of the institution has doubled and its reputation as a school at which one became carefully prepared for college, has been firmly established. What is more important, he has given the school the reputation for splendid character that he himself possesses. The principal of Sanborn is a man with whom the most careful parents would entrust their children with complete confidence."

LOVELL

The following pupils of Lovell Village Primary School had 100 per cent in spelling for the week of May 22-26:

Grade IV—June McAllister, Dorothea Cross, Thelma Plummer, Gordon Durgin.
Grade III—John Saul, Mary Gilman, Betty Brown.
Grade I—Faye Adams, Jane McAllister.

My Trip Around the World

I started going to Africa April 2 I thought I'd go on a trip around world or anyway go in a few places.

It was so cold, a human being I s pose would freeze up if they went from their home at this time, but I was cold a bit for my warm coat of feath sheltered me from the cold wind.

Oh, how tired I was the first nig When I was flying along, I saw a gr big thing going on two iron rails. think people are foolish to bother to ma the rails to go on. I don't see how th can stay on them, but I don't suppo know much about human beings. The awfully funny, anyway.

Way off in the distance I saw a flying along ahead of me. I caught to him and asked him where he w going. He said he didn't quite kno but would go along with me if I wou him to. I said I would be glad to h him go with me.

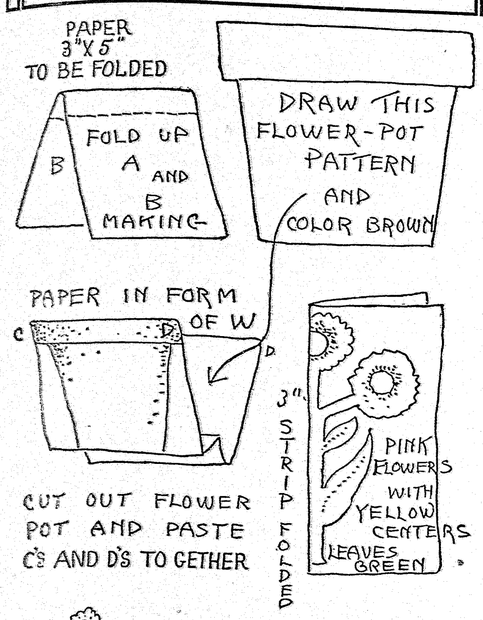
The Children's Corner



Questions:

1. Why does a chameleon change color?
2. What makes thunder?
3. Is there really a man in the moon?
4. What are shooting stars, really?

Answers:

1. The inner layer of the chameleon's skin is filled with a series of tiny pigment or color cells. When these expand or grow larger, and contract or grow smaller, the chameleon changes color. For instance, when the yellowish-green cells expand the chameleon turns orange, and if the reddish cells contract the chameleon becomes brown or black.

2. Did you ever scuff your feet on a thick rug, then touch something metal with the tips of your fingers and watch the tiny spark it makes and hear the little "snaps"? Thunder is just a very large "snap" like that, after an electrical flash.

3. Perhaps there is, and perhaps there isn't. Some people even say the moon isn't made of green cheese, but that the little holes and bumps we see on its surface are really empty lakes and mountains and craters.

4. Shooting stars, or meteors, are small heavenly bodies that the earth meets on its path around the sun. When they strike our atmosphere, they fall through it so swiftly that they become heated by the friction of the air and burn up in a blaze of fire even before they reach the earth.

My Trip Around the World

I started going to Africa April 23rd. I thought I'd go on a trip around the world anyway go in a few places.

It was so cold, a human being I suppose would freeze up if they went far from their home at this time, but I wasn't sorry for my warm coat of feathers covered me from the cold wind.

Oh how tired I was the first night! While I was flying along, I saw a great big thing going on two iron rails. I think people are foolish to bother to make the rails to go on. I don't see how they can stay on them, but I don't suppose I know much about human beings. They're very funny, anyway.

Way off in the distance I saw a bird flying along ahead of me. I caught up with him and asked him where he was going. He said he didn't quite know, but he might go along with me if I wanted him. I said I would be glad to have him with me.

I said, "Well, I don't care if it's hot where in Africa, I'm going there and stay a while." Just as the sun was sinking we got there. My, but I was-hot, it was such a land! "Oh!" said I, "what was that be- It's crawling along in the grass. My, isn't it big!"

"Well, I don't care if it is." said the bird that had come with me, "I'm going down and talk to him."

"Did you hear that rattle?" I said, "you'd better not go down."

But he was determined that he should go and he did. The snake gave a snap at him and he lay down dead. Then I had to go along myself. Oh! how lonely I was alone. But, nevertheless, I had a good time.

For as I wide I saw mud huts and people. I saw a few trees and a few gardens. The people were very lazy, much more than the ones around Greenwood. All they did was to sit down and look around. Some of the boys and girls were jumping around and playing. My! but they were dirty. I don't believe they ever washed even once in a while.

I saw someone digging in the ground. I guess they were hunting for gold. That night it was so hot I could hardly sleep.

The next day I started going to Ohio, but one of the natives caught me and put me in a cage in a dark and horrible house. I could hardly breathe in there. It was so dark I could hardly see.

The next day they let me go but they shot at me when I was flying, but none of them hit me. One of the arrows just barely missed me. I heard it whizzing by me. My, how seared I was! I made up my mind then that I would never visit Africa again.

I went to Ohio. I saw people who were about the same kind as where I came from. There isn't much of interest to tell about Ohio, only that there are so many people I could hardly see the ground.

I thought I'd had enough traveling for awhile. If you look sharply around you may see me. Can you guess what kind of a bird I am?

"A PEEP FROM OUR CLUB"

We had our 4-H Arbor Day program and planted two trees. Although I was a bit shaky, I got through my piece all right. Then our leaders asked me to write an essay-story about our exercise, so here it is:

I was supposed to want a tall and stately elm in my part, but I didn't. I'd see a group of cedars green, hidden in the forest's cool retreat; where every wind that passes through, by them is made more sweet.

I'd like to have pine trees around them so the ground would be covered with pine needles. On one side I'd have a big rock covered with moss. Somewhere nearby I'd hear a babbling brook with ferns near it. Flowers of all kinds would be there to make the land prettier.

I have named almost everything but I would like one more thing—a bird swinging on the tree branches; and one that could sing.

I think I have added all of the decorations that these cedars need. Of course I like all kinds of trees, but I think cedars are my favorites. I like them because they have such a spicy smell.

(By Joyce Kilmer)

I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree;
A tree whose hungry mouth is pressed
Against the earth's sweet flowing breast;
A tree that looks at God all day,
And lifts its leafy arms to pray;
A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair;
Upon whose bosom snow has lain,
Who intimately lives with rain;
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.

EXTENSION SERVICE HEAD SPEAKS OF NEW FARM ACT

Milk and its products are the only Maine commodities coming under the provisions of the agricultural emergency legislation recently passed by Congress and signed by President Roosevelt on May 12, according to Arthur L. Deering, director of the Extension Service.

In response to many inquiries concerning the application of the new legislation in Maine, the following statement was recently made by Director Deering:

"Milk producers in Maine are aware of the chaotic condition surrounding the dairy industry as it applies to the Boston market. Likewise, they recognize that this same condition is aggravated because contending groups representing the producers have been unable to come to any general agreement.

"The new admnistration in Washington, through the Secretary of Agriculture is now engaged in trying to bring these contending forces together and to agree upon a procedure in line with the new legislation.

"It has been proposed by Secretary Wallace that each state shall have an advisory committee of five members consisting of the Governor, the Commissioner of Agriculture, the Director of Extension Service, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and a farmer."

Seven ways are pointed out by Director Deering in which the Secretary of Agriculture has been given authority to act in restoring prewar purchasing power of farmers. These are:

(1) To decide what basic agricultural commodities should come within the operation of the program at any time;

(2) To decide whether or not voluntary acreage or production control should be undertaken;

(3) To determine, if voluntary control is undertaken, which of several methods of making benefit payments to participating farmers should be used, and how much the benefit payments should be;

(4) To provide funds for benefit payments by levying an adjustment tax on the first processing of a basic commodity; to change the amount of the tax when conditions require;

(5) To levy, when circumstances require it, a tax on a competing agricultural commodity.

(6) To be a party to trade agreements among processors and distributors, when such agreements may correct or avoid abuses that threaten the purpose of the program;

(7) To issue licenses to processors or associations of producers and others engaged in the handling of any basic agricultural commodity, or any competing commodity—the licenses subject to terms and conditions that would eliminate unfair practices and help restore normal economic conditions.

Mrs. Helen Bartlett, who has been in St. Petersburg, Florida, for the winter, as usual, is expected in Norway about the 10th of June.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Warren of Waterville, and daughter Barbara, spent the day with their aunt, Mrs. Alice Brooks, Sunday, May 28th.

Muriel Everett, aged five, was a caller at this office Monday afternoon and showed us a freak in the form of a dandelion blossom, which she had found while assisting a neighbor, who was digging greens. The stem was about one-half inch in width and flat, and there was a cluster of five distinct blossoms.

Dear Editor: I saw in "Seen and Heard" that Mr. Wardwell takes the Advertiser for Stow items. Well Mrs. Russell J. Bauer told me she had subscribed for it first to get Stow news. Mr. Bauer is Vice President of the Corn Exchange National Bank of Philadelphia. Makes me feel quite important in all. Capital letters if you please. As Ever, Old Bill.

O. W. Brown, well known newspaper man of Lynn, Mass has taken on the duties as head of the Publicity Department for the New Ocean House and Puritan Hall at Swampscott, Mass. An airplane view of the premises shows five story buildings equal in size to Poland Spring Hotel and the Mansion, and right on the waterfront. Friend Brown will have a man's job, according to the schedule of functions already dated May 29 to June 14. There are twelve big events for him to handle, this being only the beginning of his publicity regime.

"A Maine Company for Maine People" is a slogan featured by the Maine Mutual Automobile Insurance Co., home office 86 Main Street, Auburn. This is strictly a Maine company of Maine officials and organized with Maine money for the protection of Maine people. Alton C. Wheeler of Auburn is general counsel and active in its work. Harry O. Stimson of Norway is special agent. An ad in this issue explains the mutual benefit plan of automobile protection. Be sure and read it.

Clarence S. York of Augusta was a caller, Saturday afternoon. He was in town to attend a rehearsal of the Ark Mariners' Band. Forty years ago Mr. York was a photographer in Bethel and printed a few issues of "The Bethel Courier." Being a musician, he played tuba in the band of that town, and sang tenor in the church choir along with his wife, who was the contralto. Their daughter is the noted singer, Helen Yorke at one time featured by Prof. W. R. Chapman and now a headliner on the Keith and allied circuits. The writer worked spare time in the York studios when Miss York, at the age of six months, frequently exercised her vocal chords. It was one duty of the helper to tend the baby and if possible put a soft pedal on the rehearsal. "We" walked many miles around the confines of the small room.

Editor Norway Advertiser: Your card received today, gives me warning that my subscription to the Advertiser is about to expire and I am dismayed that I should need your timely admonition. I have taken the Advertiser from the very first number, never having missed the weekly arrival that is like a letter from the old home town. This is the beginning of the twenty-seventh year that your paper has been coming to me in Worcester, and I have not missed on number. I enclose $2.00 that I may not be found wanting. Yours truly, Ellen M. Davenport, 53 Paine St., Worcester, Mass.

We have not forgotten the interesting stories Mrs. Davenport has sent us for publication, concerning Norway and Waterford and the people of other days—we hope she will send us some more—they are always welcome.

THE MAINE HILL BILLY

Hello, Everybody! Vacation time is fast approaching and the Pine Tree State is going to boom again, for the laborers and professional men and families, etc., yes, even the unemployed are planning to turn tourist, and great majorities are going to head for that wonderful God's Country that is called Maine.

The Massachusetts papers started a great scandal, early in the spring, to test the hospitality of the citizens of Maine. It was the result of the unexpected storm or blizzard that swept Maine and New England this early spring, that resulted in a traffic blockade along route US No. 1. Some distinguished men verified the statements of the press, saying that women and children were caused to suffer, as they were refused shelter and refreshments and some were ordered from property by the Maine citizen. I'll dare to admit there are cranks in all parts of this world, and some discouraged ones may reside in Maine, but according to the population, the average is small where the pine trees grow. I know the natives of Maine are taken advantage of by the tourist to some extent, and sometimes they feel their Yankee blood must return the compliment.

I recall some past summers at my Maine home that tourists did not hesitate how they caused damage or realize it. Why I have known an outer stater to use my front lawn for a parking space or a good place to turn their vehicles for an opposite course. But just the same we felt like finding fault, only we did just the opposite, like real Maine people do, and gave our guest a big hearty smile in return. If a car should run on somebody's lawn down here in the Bay State, the owner does not talk, he simply takes the registration number, and in a few days you will get a bill from his lawyer, and if that doesn't settle matters, a law suit soon follows. That may be the way legally to do business when one has an inferior-complex, but the true State of Mainers will continue to do business with smiles and real friendship.

I have always realized that money talks in these United States. Whether it may be inflated or deflated. I wonder who is doing the talking in Washington now, is it J. P. Morgan or Mr. Money? We sent Al Capone to prison for beating us out of his income tax. He was very clever as a racketeer and the Federal Government had to get him some way, so they picked out the income tax violation Law. Now they have picked on poor Mr. Morgan (who is not very poor) and he, in turn, does not want to take the rap alone, so he has exposed some of our trusted great men of the country. Now we must all help Mr. Morgan out of his predicament as he is our greatest financier of the country, and even if he gets a kick out of playing with money, he tells us he does it all within the laws of the Nation. Well, when you hear anyone talking about inflation, remember, wasn't the Akron inflated?—So, so long until a future period.—Just a Maine Hill Billy.

MAINE FISHING BAN HALTED, RESULT RAIN

A State-wide rain Saturday "temporarily stopped" Forest Commissioner Neil L. Violette from asking Gov. Louis J. Brann to declare a closed time on fishing—except from boats—and to prohibit the building of fires in the woods.

Violette said Friday that because investigation showed some of the several recent fires which burned 6,000 acres and cost $1,000 a day to fight started near brooks, "indicating that fishermen caused them through carelessness," he was about to ask the Chief Executive to order the ban.

The Forestry Department said Saturday the rain may afford only temporary relief. "If it stops and the sun comes out tomorrow, everything will dry up very quickly and the dangerous situation of yesterday will be repeated."

A year ago this month Gov. William Tudor Gardiner stopped all fishing except from boats on lakes, ponds and rivers, and prohibited the building of fires. The ban was on five days.

NORWAY VICINITY

The Poisonous Bowl

By Frederick Marshall Davis

Written for the Norway Advertiser.

It has never been my purpose to mix or meddle or pretend to say much where state or national affairs are involved, but the great topic—the beer question—that we are listening to today is doubly interesting. I believe the reader will agree with me when I say, society don't like it, the ministry don't like it, and women's organizations and the best of people throughout Maine are fighting hard to dislodge the idea of legal beer and are the prime factors in trying to discourage the sale of such a product and at the same time, save the good state of Maine from trying to run a Behind the Door or Down the Alley business and I believe that a percentage of the people will agree with me that such as that is no good, never was, and never will be. On bringing back the sale of beer, I believe it seems to most of us as a hard fought battle and merely a case of evil rebelling against the good.

It seems to me as being one more way of trying to kill Old Man Depression, and if such a thing comes to pass, we shall all be glad to rejoice that the deed is done. Things are not as they used to be twenty years ago when a man out of a job was a curiosity and it is true that setting up the old game, so to speak, and in getting things into line, it no doubt will produce a lot of labor and being the dawn of a new era, in one sense, as it is, for a while it will be popular, but what about the morrow, when the greater percent of men today are not even given a chance to earn an honest living and things that used to look brilliant to us a few short years ago, today they are considered as practically worthless.

I believe that it is the man who has a job outside of the business that is expected to pay the bills and keep the thing agoing.

It is the man of the street—in a great measure—the man down on the corner, the man of humble circumstances, the man who should find a better way to spend his loose change that has always been depended upon to patronize so-called beer parlors, the man who cheats his family and makes of himself a poor, wretched soul.

Maine has always led the Union in many ways, it has always been uplifting and has always been looked up to as an emblem of respect and it seems unjust to try to sacrifice the happiness of the child, the wife and peaceful homes—but instead—as we have in the past, press onward with the selfsame reliance and set a good example by dropping out of the picture that which reflects disgrace and disdain.

The sale of beer may, of course, be something of a help in what is known as government revenue, but the great crisis that speaks so plainly to us today that—different from what it was in days of old—the common individual has not the price to push over or in other words, to lay down the money at the bar or at any other spot where it might be sold. The world has and always has had, both the rich and the poor, but just now the poor predominates and I believe that while the bread-line in most of our principal cities is such as it is today, that the man who drinks suds would do better to spend his change in a way that would enable him to bring home something for the kitchen table.

We may read that the sale of beer is bringing in wonderful returns, but I believe that not until the wheels of industry start turning and men are given earning power shall we see any material difference.

Having been in Canada in 1930 and 1931, and crossing the border many times as I did, I could easily recall that the conditions there were tough and with street corners crowded with the unemployed who complained that they were in stringent circumstances for the lack of employment and nearly every line-house had signs displayed that told of beverages that were for sale and I noticed that nearly every kind of liquor was mentioned—beer included, so it is plain to see for ourselves that the great crisis or repression is affective even in a country where rum is plenty. This hard-scrabble period that we are passing through just now—like the tide—moves slowly; it has crept on to us slow but sure, it is far-reaching, we read that even over in London the conditions are drastic and I believe that today strong men are racking their brain to overcome that women threatens disaster to the greater part of the entire globe.

A combination of different things have been laid at the feet of Old Man Depression—that accounts for his presence here, such as war, automobiles, stock market and the way the liquor traffic has been maintained but somehow or other he seems loath to pack up his duds and leave the country.

In visions we can see him daily hobbling around and we watch him as he stops to lean on the cane of contempt while his whiskers float gracefully in the breeze.

Depression—like a mighty river—comes to us slowly and departs in the same manner and with its great power nearly a kinds of business is affected and I believe that it's going to take more than the sale of any kind of beverage before this great financial crisis comes to an end.

It is going to take courage, patience, perseverance and a general get-together of the people, to work in the right spirit, shoulder to shoulder, to break through the lines that deprive men of honest labor. I believe that none of us like to display the flag of distress and just what the trouble is with the world in general—the writer, like most everyone else—is unable to tell, but we may as well own up that truth has always been a great power and that it is difficult to run away from trouble.

As far as drinking beer is concerned, I have read that the stomach—like any other organ of the body—needs rest, and if we eat three times a day as we should, I ask you to pardon me when I say—pray tell me, do we need it, and what is the advantage of keeping the stomach overworked with what is known as belly-wash? Do we need anything of the kind between meals? Of course not. There is no good in it, a silly drunkard is a mess and always has been.

On drinking any fermentation, with the meals or without—the stomach is immediately put out of commission and one thing is sure—I have seen men drinking beer who became deathly sick and in most every case the brain is affected and, as I said before, I believe that it's going to take something besides the sale of slop to do away with the conditions that we have to put up with today.

I believe that in many instances with those who buy beer that in due time someone has got to come forward and hand them back their money or at least its equivalent and I believe the time is at hand when it is our honest duty to put forth every effort to staunch the swelling tide that threatens to engulf or swamp the ship of state that we may not be carried down to he depths of a sunless sea.

Without any intention to dictate or overrule, these few lines are passed along to the publisher merely as a discussion as is common with all state of Maine newspapers where each, if possible, may be given a chance to express their ideas in a way that would perhaps be beneficial to all concerned.

In closing, would say, I have always tried to be satisfied with things as they exist, but as I said before, society don't like it. I might quote that when a couple stand up to be united, you will notice that the minister, if he makes any remarks at all, will tell you that the marriage law was made to satisfy society.

Maine has many resources and prosperity is sure to return and we don't need to think that we must pour suds down our gullet to fat our pocketbook with a demon known as the Poisonous Bowl.

A WONDERFUL COUNTRY

There's a wonderful country, lying
Far off from the noisy town,
Where the wind-flower swings,
And the veery sings,
And the tumbling brooks come down;
'Tis a land of light and of laughter,
Where peace all the woodland fills;
'Tis the land that lies
'Neath the summer skies
In the heart of the happy hills.

The road to that wonderful country
Leads out from the gates of care;
And the tired feet
In the dusty street
Are longing to enter there;
And a voice from that land is calling
In the rush of a thousand rills—
"Come away, away,
To the woods today,
To the heart of the happy hills."

Far away in that wonderful country,
Where the skies are always blue,
In the shadows cool,
By the foaming pool,
We may put on strength anew;
We may drink from the magic fountains
Where the wine of life distills,
And never a care
Shall find us there,
In the heart of the happy hills.

LOST 40 POUNDS ON DOCTOR'S ADVICE

"I'm a user of Kruschen Salts as a reducing remedy and can say they are fine. Have lost more than 40 lbs., in the past year. Am gradually reducing as my doctor advises." Miss Bertha Waldo, Haman, N. Dakota. (Oct. 30, 1932).

Once a day take Kruschen Salts—one half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water first thing every morning. Besides losing ugly fat SAFELY, you'll gain in health and physical attractiveness—constipation, gas and acidity will cease to bother—you'll feel younger—more active—full of ambition—clear skin—sparkling eyes.

A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at L. V. Ashton's or any drugstore in the world—but demand and get Kruschen and if one bottle doesn't joyfully please you—money back.

STATE OF MAINE

County of Oxford, ss. April 29, A. D., 1933

Taken this 29th. day of April, 1933. on execution dated March 31, 1933, issued on a judgment rendered by the Superior Court for the County of Oxford at the term thereof begun and held on the second Tuesday of February, to wit, on the 29th. day of March, 1933, in favor of Ralph L. Sturgis of Norway, in the County of Oxford and State of Maine, against Lena Kilponen and August Kilponen, both of Paris, in the County of Oxford and State of Maine, now commorant of Sumner in the County of Oxford and State of Maine, for $233.98 debt or damage, and $23.05 costs of suit and 15c more for execution, and will be sold at public auction on the premises in said Sumner, Oxford County, Maine, to the highest bidder, on the 7th day of June, A. D. 1933, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, the following described real estate and all the right, title and interest which the said Lena Kilponen and August Kilponen have and had in and to the same on the 11th. day of January, A. D., 1933, at 2:35 in the afternoon of said day, the time when the same was attached on the writ in the same suit, to wit: A certain lot or parcel of land situated in Paris and bounded and described as follows, viz: Commencing at the corner of lots number 22 and 23 in the ninth range of lots in Paris, on the line between Sumner and Paris; thence Southerly on said lines of towns to the road leading by the house of Horatis Chandler and what was formerly the home of J. B. Chaffin, now owned by Charles W. Stevens; thence Westerly by said road to land now owned by said Stevens or by William Stevens; thence Northerly on the line of said Stevens land and the land now or formerly of A. P. Mayhew, and following the wall to the lot line between lots 22 and 23 in said ninth range; thence on said lot line to the first mentioned bound, containing seventy (70) acres more or less. Being precisely the same property conveyed to Roscoe D. Slattery by Margaret P. and Edward C. Slattery by deed of warranty dated November 9th., 1908 and recorded in the Oxford Registry of Deeds, in Book 309, Page 534.

Also, one other parcel of land bounded as follows: A certain lot or parcel of land in Sumner and bounded and described as follows, to wit: Being parts of lots number 1 and 2 in the sixth range of lots in said Sumner, containing eighty (80) acres more or less, with the buildings thereon, and being precisely the same premises described in a certain deed of warranty from Mary Ann Parker to Edward C. GIRLS' BASKET BALL

The girls' basket ball team this year was a hard working sextet, which displayed real sportsmanship throughout the season. Never discouraged by frequent losses, the team came back the next week with a brave spirit of determination, and showed a fine cooperation during the entire season. It is not easy to keep up courage under defeat and the girls are to be commended for their splendid spirit and enthusiasm.

Letters were awarded to five seniors: Bradbury, Emerson, Gallant, Hunt, Pratt; one junior, Hill; one sophomore, Bunker; one freshman, Young. From this group there is one girl who has earned a letter for each of her four years of high school and this honor falls to Miss Beatrice Gallant, who has been untiring and faithful in her work on the court.

A list of games and their dates is as follows:

Dec. 16, Oxford at Oxford.
Jan. 6, Mechanic Falls at Norway.
Jan. 13, West Paris at West Paris.
Jan. 20, South Paris at South Paris.
Jan. 27, Bridgton at Bridgton.
Feb. 3, Oxford at Norway.
Feb. 10, Mechanic Falls at Mechanic Falls.
Feb. 17, West Paris at Norway.
Feb. 24, South Paris at Norway.

Miss Athalie Perry, assistant manager, attended all the games and officiated as scorer for the Norway girls, as well as assisting in the class games. Miss Lucy Kimball, also assistant manager, helped greatly in the class games conducted during the earlier part of the season.

STUDENT COUNCIL

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council was organized as usual in the early fall, having two representatives from each of the three upper classes. The senior representatives were Margaret Bradbury and Gordon Coffin; the representatives from the Junior Class were Althea Millett and Edward Holt; and the Sophomore Class was represented by Laurence Gammon and Sherwood Cleveland. The officers chosen for the year were: President, Gordon Coffin; Secretary, Althea Millett.

In the fall, the Council took charge of the High School Fair and served as ushers at "Parent's Night." During the winter and spring, the activities of the Council were many and varied. They raised money to send the basket ball team to the tournament, sponsored during classes for students in the gymnasium, acted as ushers at Prize Speaking, and presented two assembly programs.

A regular weekly duty of the Student Council is to serve as a medium between the students and the faculty, and to enforce the rules of the school by a fairer understanding of these rules by both students and faculty.

ORCHESTRA

Back row, left to right: Sherman Sanborn, George Sanborn, Robert Coffin, Harlan Holman, Edwin Barker, Ralph Akroyd, Elwood Millett, Faunce Pendexter, Wilfred Conary.

ORCHESTRA

Have you ever been in or near the new high school building any Monday about 3:30 P. M.? If you have been "in," you doubtless have proceeded to get as far away from Room 8 as possible—that is, if you have any work to be done that requires even the smallest degree of concentration; if you have been "near," perhaps you have stopped a moment to listen, or you may have gone prancing down the street to the accompaniment of some rollicking march, the strains of which waft outward from the aforesaid Room 8, the sanctum of the musical muses.

But to be serious now. Even with an orchestra of only sixteen members, conscientious effort must be the keynote of these all-too-short weekly rehearsals in order that a selection may be perfected so that a public performance of it can be attempted. Even then there will be mistakes, the causes and remedies of which must constitute a part of the next rehearsal.

It is needless to say, perhaps, how much depends on the regular attendance at rehearsals of orchestra participants. If a student misses several rehearsals in succession and then joins his team mates in a public program that includes a new selection learned in his absence, the result is apt to be distressingly disastrous. Eighty per cent of the total number of rehearsals and five public performances must be "chalked up" to one's credit before he can be eligible for an orchestra letter.

This extra-curricula group has performed creditably on various occasions this year. The first program was presented at the county meeting of the Y. P. C. U. held at the Congregational Church in the fall. Then followed selections at the district meeting of the Farmers' Clubs; a Grange program; the annual Grange Fair; the high school fair; Pomona Grange; the Oxford County Schoolmasters' meeting held in Norway; the Methodist Church play, "Mary Made Some Marmalade"; and the senior class play, "Peach Tree Road." It presented a concert as part of the fourth annual musical clubs' entertainment last Friday night. It gave selections at the Baccalaureate service Sunday, and it will play at the Commencement exercises and during the Alumni banquet. The Friday morning Senior High assembly devoted to the orchestra and glee club was extremely pleasing to the audience. On two occasions this year, the orchestra has played at the Junior High assemblies.

Since no appropriation is made for a music fund, and since new music must be obtained at intervals, those members who play jazz on the side line have willingly given their services at "gym" socials, and the money paid to the orchestra as a group buys the new music. Also, C. L. Decoster has allowed us to use, free gratis, some of his folio sets; many thanks are due him for his interest and cooperation.

The personnel of the orchestra follows:

First Violins—Eliabeth Ariel, Irene Tubbs.
Second Violins—Marion Judkins, Irene Freeman.
Clarinets—Harlan Holman, Wilfred Conary.
First Trumpets—Ralph Akroyd, George Sanborn.
Second Trumpets—Robert Coffin, Elwood Millett.
Saxaphones—Donald Partridge, Edwin Barker.
Baritone Horn—Sherman Sanborn.
Drums—Burnelle Burnell.
Piano—Maxine Richardson, Faunce Pendexter.

Seven of this group are seniors, nearly all of whom have played together for their entire four years. Their services will be greatly missed. They are: Elizabeth Ariel, Irene Tubbs, Harlan Holman, Wilfred Conary, Edwin Barker, Maxine Richardson and Faunce Pendexter. It is my wish that they, as well as all under classmen who are now developing a musical training, will keep on with their practice regardless of certain circumstances which may arise. The old maxim, "Practice makes perfect," is never amiss in any field. To be sure, dust on an instrument's case may denote poor housekeeping, but don't let it mean lack of usage.

WINTER SPORTS 1933

The uncertain winter weather was the greatest hindrance to a sports team which showed great promise at the start but became discouraged before the season finished.

Practice started as soon after Christmas as the first snow appeared with eight boys reporting. The uncertain weather hampered any regular practice and caused the postponement, and final cancellation of a dual meet with Edward Little High School. An untimely death at Hebron caused the cancellation of a meet with Hebron. When the Waterford Carnival was scheduled, the boys expected to have their first competition but no other team showed up for competition. The members of the team had to run against each other and all events were practically decided before the start. This meant the winning of the second leg on the Waterford Cup.

The State Meet held at Rumford, May 24, after a two weeks postponement, found the men out of condition and they were able to secure but one point in the relay race. The others made a good showing but found the competition from the larger schools much too fast. The following boys were members of the squad: Linwood Gatley; Wesley Brown; Liston Brown; Philip French; Louis Morin; Fred Holt; Francis White; and Norman Goodwin.

White, Wesley Brown, Gatley and Morin received letters.

SPRING TRACK

The interest in Track this Spring has been much better than in former years as more boys have practiced regularly and shown an interest in the sport. At that, the squad is not very large and could stand the addition of a few more men. Seven boys are practicing regularly each day and the others must sandwich in their practice between baseball games and rehearsals on class parts. The interclass meet held May 8, showed some fine competition between the Juniors and Seniors. The Juniors finally won 58 1-2 and Seniors 56; the Sophomores trailed with 19 1-2 and the Freshmen scoring but 9.

The Interclass Meet brings out some boys who have never before competed in track and many times brings out latent talent but this year there were no additions to the squad from this source.

The first Meet was held Saturday, May 20, at Hebron. This was the annual Oxford County Meet and was won by Rumford with 71 points. Norway finished fourth with a total of 17 points; they did not win a first place, but scored in eight of the fifteen events. The following men won their letters as a result of this meet: R. Frost; J. Bartlett; P. French; G. Truman; L. Gatley; R. Dunham; F. Hall; G. Coffin.

A dual meet is scheduled with Gould Academy of Bethel at the Fair Grounds Friday, May 26, and the State Meet is held at Portland Saturday, June 3. From the results of these two additional meets the number of points won will be bound to increase.

HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

The following are some of the outstanding things accomplished by various groups in this department the past year:

Sandwiches have been sold at recess each day, each girl taking a part in some way at some time to make the sale possible. As a result of this endeavor, we have finished paying for our electric refrigerator which was largely paid for from earnings of previous years. This year we have bought the following: A complete set of dishes for 4 of a standard pattern, to use in serving simple meals for learning correct table setting and service; 20 medium size enamel bowls; 30 pieces of 10 year guarantee plated silver; 20 dish cloths; electric iron cord; new dust pan; new dust cloths (made by girls); 5 new handle sauce pans, and minor repairs.

Lined trophy case presented to the school by the class of 1932. Made all letters presented by school for all sports and other activities. Junior and Senior nutrition class gave health talks to second grade and checked weights for several months; during this time, all but four or five reached normal weight. Sent samples of water to state to be tested. Served supper to Oxford County Schoolmasters' Association, January 10.

As part of regular class work, High School groups carry on Home Projects or Home Practice: Took part in a Better Citizenship Contest sponsored by the local Daughters of the American Revolution. The results of this contest were announced at last chapel. Made costumes which were to have been used in 7th and 8th grade play. Sent notebooks, posters, etc., to the University of Maine to be used at Farm Home Week program. Made special effort in one class to observe Better Home Week by actually making own homes better.

Helped serve buffet supper to members of University of Maine Alumni Association of Oxford County. Put on a style show. Organized a Freshman's Welcome Club. Had our second annual exhibit of clothing work at Merchant's store, week of May 29. Cleaned all draperies in new building. Made prize ribbons for annual winter sports meet, prize speaking contest, etc.

Took all responsibility for and did the work of feeding 25 undernourished children daily for about twelve weeks. This was sponsored by the local Kivanis Club, Woman's Club and Red Cross. Children were weighed at the beginning and end and proved very satisfactory gains.

Served tea at parents' visiting night at High School and the next afternoon when a similar event was held in the grades. Wound baton for graduation.

LAST CHAPEL

The Last Chapel, one of the most impressive exercises during Commencement week, was held Wednesday, in the auditorium of the Congregational Church, with the whole student body and faculty attending.

Order of exercises was as follows:

Processional
America (two verses)
Scripture Reading and Lord's Prayer Francis Howe
School Song (Two verses)
Prayer Cecil Stevens
Address to Graduates Jonathan Bartlett
Awards and Letters
Star Spangled Banner (One verse)
Recessional
Auld Lang Syne

Baccalaureate

Large Audience at Congregational Church, Sunday Afternoon

The Congregational Church was crowded and the vestry was opened to accommodate an audience of nearly four hundred assembled for the baccalaureate exercises at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Members of the junior class were the ushers.

After the organ prelude by Mrs. Herman L. Horne, forty-two seniors in caps and gowns, marshaled by Nolan Jackson marched to front seats in the middle section.

The following was the order of exercises:

Selection, "The Pilgrim's Chorus" from "Tannhauser" .....Orchestra
Invocation and Lord's Prayer .....Rev. G. H. Newton
Violin Duet, Beethoven's "Farewell to the Piano"..Irene Freeman, Marion Judkins
Scripture .....Rev. Conard B. Rheiner
Selection, "Humoresque" .....Orchestra
Prayer .....Rev. Mervin M. Deems
Response, Vocal Solo, "Sunrise With the Master" .....Frances McAllister
Offertory, "Traumerei" .....
Irene Freeman, Marion Judkins, Donald Partridge.
America, the Beautiful.....Congregation
Sermon .....Rev. Mervin M. Deems
America .....Congregation
Benediction .....Rev. Mervin M. Deems
Recessional .....

The text of Mr. Deems' address is as follows:

Scripture Lesson John 10:7-18.

We congratulate you of the class of 1933 who are about to graduate. Looking upon you,—or perhaps upon some of you,—I am reminded of a verse in the book of Revelation which commences: "These are they who have come through great tribulation,"—which, however, is not my text!

I shall pass over the trite observations that four years ago this hour of Baccalaureate and Graduation seemed as unreal and impossible to you as does the mirage to the thirsty, travel-worn pilgrim, but unlike the mirage, this occasion has become real. I need not remind you that though this week is rightfully joyous because it means the fruition of your fondest hopes and dreams,—it is also fraught with sadness, for when the final exercise is completed, the last glad note struck, it will mean the end of your life as a corporate class. Never again will you meet, as today you meet, and so this business of graduating resembles strikingly the experience of life, for we find that whenever we accomplish our aims there is a breaking up, a disintegration, and we have it all to do over again.

You are about to receive your diplomas for having completed the high school course,—but whether or not you are educated is an entirely different matter. You have had your French, but whether you have caught the spirit of your readings is quite another thing. You have hurdled your ablatives absolute in your Caesar, but have you seen a victorious, shrewd, competent, master of tactics taking the pains to leave behind him a diary of his exploits and times? You have been partially inducted into the beauty and grandeur of English Literature,—and have memorized, perchance, many a line, but have you made your very own;

"This above all
To thine own self be true,
And it must follow as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man!

or this:

The friends thou hast and their adoption tried, grapple them to thyself with hooks of steel."

You may laboriously,—I speak quite personally, have ploughed through mathematics to discover that X may represent any number of things in addition to marking the spot where the body lies, in the latest detective thriller, but though you may have memorized certain laws and rules in the exact and physical sciences, if there has not come to you also the thrill of experimenting, of ferreting out the truth, of sensing the orderliness of the universe,—then what price those hours of hard study, and laboratory workmanship? You are about to graduate,—but only you yourselves know how educated you are!

Long ages ago a very keen observer of human nature offered this advice:

"Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore, get wisdom; and with all thy getting, get understanding."

As a matter of fact, the lines may be found in the book of Proverbs (4:7), but that does not make them true. Only as the years slip by and we leave the 'teens for the twenties and thirties and on, do we sense the necessity of properly evoluting our age and the things in it and of relating it to ages past. I suspect that just here most of us have fallen down. We have rushed from one thing to another,—we have dropped the old and spurned it, simply because it was old,—and have snatched at the new because of its novelty,—without ever having tested the old or investigated the new. We have accepted the machine age without trying to assimilate the mechanical in the affairs of humanity. We are still hopelessly lost educationally, often emphasizing method to the exclusion of subject matter or interpretation. Our body politic has grown to such proportions that only by great stretch of imagination may we still consider it a democracy. And in spite of disturbing changes all around us, most of us have ignored them and by memorizing a few figures, or dates, or facts, have somehow supposed that we were acquiring wisdom. Lawence Hyde has said of us that we are "a generation incredibly well-informed, but with practically no wisdom." And so, with some shadow of excuse, I resort to an old and almost threadbare text by counselling that wherever life may take you, whatever it may bring you, whatever you may seek to get out of it, with "all your getting get understanding."

And toward this end, as you now face life anew, breaking long established associations; lengthening, if not severing the home ties, whether you go on into the slightly larger, but still highly protected sphere of college, or whether you launch forth into a wider world, seeking a job,—you will wish to do three things in order that you may gain an appreciation of life:

"In the first place, you will wish to adapt yourself to life as you find it around you. I do not mean by this that you must sink your personality below the level of the group. I do not mean that your individuality must be merged or submerged,—I do not mean the renouncing of ideals in favor of a gross materialism encompassing you. But I do mean that it is extremely important to make one's self at home in the world. Failure to do so makes the victim a misfit, increases his bitterness, makes of no avail any influence which he might have had.

Nor is this accomplishment simply like the saying, "When one is in Rome, one does as the Romans do." It is more than that,—it "understands" the viewpoint of the opponent,—and though it may not agree with him, it nevertheless holds him in respect, not contempt. There is a line in Kipling's school-boy poem, "If," which characterizes the thing I mean: "If you can walk with Kings, nor lose the common touch." The great man, the man with the great soul, can do just that. In a universe that is constantly enlarging, as well as in a world which is steadily becoming more cooperative and in which the natives are necessarily growing more interdependent it is obligatory that man so understand his situation as to properly adjust and adapt himself to it.

And yet, in the second place, it is also equally necessary that we try to improve

NORWAY FUTURE FARMERS CHAPTER FOR 1932-33

Many of the activities that are essential to vocational agriculture can be best sponsored through a student organization. Our Future Farmer Chapter, which is a national organization, trains boys to work together and to be democratic. It is education that produces cooperation so necessary for farm relief. It is learning to do by doing.

The Norway Chapter has a total membership of 25 active members. Meetings are held twice a month and the following officers have had control of the meetings this year:

President—Liston Brown.
Vice President—Wilson Cordwell.
Secretary—Wesley Brown.
Treasurer—Alfred Cummings.
Reporter—Donald Andrews.

Some of the Chapter's objectives which have been carried out this year are: 95% of the students enrolled in Agriculture belong to the chapter; there has been 100% completion of projects started; 100% of those enrolled have projects; the group has taken charge of one assembly before the high school; the class has carried on a group project of hatching 10,000 day-old cicks; a basket ball team was organized; the department entered at least two contests. The cattle judging teams have been very successful this year, having taken first place at Cumberland Fair and at the University of Maine contests.

The chapter is going to help send one of its members to the State Y camp for a week to attend a leadership conference. At this conference, a special course is given for F. F. A. boys who are training themselves to be leaders in future years.

SENIOR FRENCH CLUB

Last fall an informal French Club was formed by the senior French class. Each meeting held throughout the year has been planned and conducted by some one member of the class, and the French tongue has been used at all of these gatherings. A list of the following meetings will well express the variety of programs offered and both teacher and students agree that the idea has been advantageous, both linquistically and culturally.

September—A lecture on France by Mrs. C. B. Rheiner.

October—A program in commemoration of Victor Hugo.

November—A patriotic program in recognition of Armistice Day.

December—A Christmas tree and program.

January—A study of the great French educator, Charlemagne.

February—A one act French drama and St. Valentine observance.

March—An Easter observance program.

April—A program based on the fables of La Fontaine.

May—A sketch and readings depicting episodes in the life of Jean d'Arc.

LATIN CLUB

The pupils enrolled in the three Latin classes this year have shown great interest in this study and an unusual amount of work has been accomplished.

The Senior and Junior class read the following selections from Cicles: In C. Verrem, De Imperio—Cu. Pompei, In Catilmain, Prima. Secenda, Tertia and Quanta," Pro A. Licinio Archia; Pro M. Marcello.

Weekly assignments in Latin Composition have been prepared and discussed in class. The Private Life of the Romans, Our Roman Legacy and Classic Myths, that live today have been used as the basis for essays and class discussions. Calendars and posters pertaining to various phases of Roman life, have been prepared by this group. After the required work was finished, the pupils in this class have studied the life of Horace and read several of his poems.

The Sophomore class has completed in a very praiseworthy manner the new text furnished for this class last fall—Latin—Second Year—by Berry and Lee. This is the second in the Climax Series of Latin texts. In this attractive book the members of the class enjoyed reading the myths of Ovid before the more difficult portions of Caesar were studied.

The Freshmen have completed and thoroughly reviewed the first book in this Climax—Latin—First Year.

A Latin Club, "Manus Latins" has been organized with the two-fold purpose of promoting a deeper interest in Roman life and furnishing good times for the club members. The officers chosen for this year were:

President—Faunce Pendexter.
Vice Pres.—Maxine Richardson.
Secretary—Beatrice Paul.
Treasurer—Laurence Gammon.

A "weenie" and corn roast was held at Thompson's Pond early in the Fall term. A Christmas party was given at the home of Mrs. Brooks, the Latin teacher. Gifts with accompanying verses written in Latin were distributed by the club President, Faunce Pendexter. Games were enjoyed and refreshments were served.

A Latin Play, "Era Nympharum," by Lillian Lamler, was presented in Assembly and on Parents' Night by the Junior and Senior Class. The personae:

Martuis, puèr Brundisimus: Faunce Pendexter.
Tertia, soror Marti: Elizabeth Ariel.
Paula, amica Tertiæ: Lois Holman.
Alseis, Nympha: Irene Tubbs.
Hyleora, Nympha: Maxine Richardson.
Napaea, Nympha: Beatrice Paul.

Roman costumes, the toga, stola and palla, were worn in this play. The cast made their own sandals.

A Roman Banquet was given at the high school building Friday, May 19. The following menu was prepared by the members of the Junior and Senior class and served by the Freshman girls:

Gustus
Mulsum
Lactuca, caepe. oleum
cucumis piper
Cena
Lardum, ona panis
Beta cum oceto, vinum
Secunda Mensa
Nuces, placentae cum melle

After the banquet, Latin games were enjoyed.

DRAMATIC CLUB

September 1932 marked the third anniversary of the Dramatic Club in Norway High School. During the current school year, the organization has flourished under the following officers: President, Faunce Pendexter; Vice President, Maxine Richardson; Secretary, Margaret Bradbury; Treasurer, Margaret Anderson; Faculty Adviser, Mrs. Cole.

The club membership, built around a strong senior nucleous, has been exceptionally large.

To meet with the strict economy program practiced throughout the school, dues were reduced from fifty cents to twenty-five cents this year.

In spite of reduced income, the club has been able to sponsor many worthwhile projects. A set of black sateen draperies were completed in the fall; these, together with front curtains, which the club made and presented to the school last year, have been found very helpful in converting the school-day library into a usable stage with a touch of the theatrical atmosphere. A set of dark red curtains will be available in the early fall of the next school year.

The club has also added to its increasing equipment a set of footlights; these were financed by the club and made by Gordon Coffin, a senior member.

The purpose of the organization is to develop an interest in, a better understanding of and a keener appreciation of the elements of the theatre as well as to promote ability through actual participation in dramatics.

Meetings, for the most part, are turned over to discussions and study of the theater and plays. Variety and interest are provided by a few special programs interwoven into the schedule. This year, this variety was found in a very interesting demonstration and talk on make-up by Mr. Burnell; Mr. Deems of the Congregational Church also gave much valuable information to the group through a discussion of the theater in Europe and the Far East.

One of the most interesting things that the group has undertaken this year is perhaps sponsoring an appearance of Mr. Paul Clemens, marionette artist of Bethel, Maine, before the student body. Mr. Clemens presented "Treasure Island" and "The Merchant of Venice." He was very interested in our dramatic pursuits and more than kind about explaining the inside story of his tiny family. Several prospective members from the eighth grade became very enthusiastic and have tried their skill in making some dolls. With the help of some of the older students, they have completed seven which will be dressed and used in a Junior High assembly program.

The number of productions has increased yearly since the club came into existence. This year's program includes three performances of "Sauce for the Gosling," two performances of "Blind Dates," a musical comedy done in collaboration with the musical department, and two performances of "The Dustman," one in Norway and one in Rumford at the State One-Act Play Contest. The Senior Drama was given welcome support, both on and back stage, by members who had received much of their experience through club work.

Norway has participated in the State One-Act Play Contest both years since its institution in Maine. Although no prizes have been won, both casts have received much favorable comment. Plans are already underway for the club's choice for the next contest.

The loss of several talented and experienced seniors will undoubtedly be felt many times next year, but it is hoped that the standard of work will be kept up in spite of this. Those elected at a recent meeting to carry on the work were: President, Robert Frost; Vice President, Althea Millett; Secretary, Margaret Hill; Treasurer, Margaret Anderson.

PLAY DAY

The annual county Play Day was held at Rumford on May 20th. The Norway representatives for this event were: Bradbury '33, Gatley '33, Heikkinen '33, Hunt '33, Paul '33, Anderson '34, Dunham '35, Emerson '35, Logan '35, Young '36. Norway girls placed second in the competitive stunts.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

Commercial Club

The Commercial Club of Norway High School came through with many accomplishments for the school year. A large number of Commercial students joined and helped to make it a success. The proceeds from parties, etc., given by the club went to purchase all of the typewriting awards and test copies. The club dues this year were reduced to 25c, thereby making it possible for all students of the course to become members. At each club meeting a program relating in some way to business, was put on before the regular business meeting. Each program was arranged by a committee of three, Christine Nelson, Edwin Barker and Katharine McAllister, and these three chose those responsible for the meeting. A paper "The Commercial Club News" was published twice during the year, giving the summary of all school events up to that time. The officers for the year were:

President—Cecil Stevens.
Vice Pres.—Christine Nelson.
Secretary—Edward Holt.
Treasurer—Impi Sellonen.

The officers for the coming year are:
President—Edward Holt.
Vice Pres.—Norma Wilberger.
Secretary—Athalie Perry.
Treasurer—Impi Sellonen.

It is hoped that the club will be even bigger and better next year. The Faculty Advisers are Mrs. Adeline D. Klein, and Miss Katherine A. Leeman.

Awards

The Commercial Department again sent representatives to the Annual County Commercial Contest, held at South Paris, May 13, 1933. Although the cup was lost to South Paris, the teams did commendable work, and those placing were awarded their Commercial Letters. They were Dorothy Pratt and Ralph Akroyd. Dorothy had a total of 8 points and Ralph 3 points. Norway placed second with a total of 11. Others representing the school were: Seniors, Lillian Heikkinen, Olive Martin, Christine Nelson; Juniors, Pauline Ripley; Sophomores, Adeline Emerson, Elizabeth Noyes.

The Senior Shorthand Class are very proud of their accomplishments for the year. Six have received the 100-word Gregg Shorthand Certificate, and three of those six the 120-word Gregg Shorthand Gold Pin. Two of the class have made especially outstanding records by having passed the 140-word per minute standard Gregg Test for which they received Silver Medals from the Gregg Company. These awards are made by the Gregg Company upon receipt of the notes, and the typewritten transcripts which must be at least 95 per cent perfect. All others in the class are satisfactorily passing transcripts at 90 words per minute. The higher awards are:

*Lillian Heikkinen 100-120-word Certif. and the Silver Medal at 140.
*Christine Nelson 100-120-word Certif. and the Silver Medal at 140.
Dorothy Pratt 100-120-word Certificates.
Olive Martin 100 word Certificate.
Lila Emerson 100 word Certificate.
Francis Howe 100 word Certificate.
*First 140-word Medal winners which Norway High School has had.

A few typists have written perfect 15-minute speed tests this year at various rates of speed: Francis Howe, Dorothy Pratt, Arthur Perry, Lawrence Card, Lester Card, Henry Dyer, George Cordwell, Robert Coffin.

The Senior Filing Class, having completed the required amount of work required by the Remington Rand Co. have taken the 20-period test put out by that company. Those receiving a grade of better than 90% in this test received engraved certificates from the company. They are: Olive Martin, Lillian Heikkinen, Beatrice Gallant, Lila Emerson, Christine Nelson, Dorothy Pratt, Laura Yates, Lona Noble, Francis Howe, Edwin Barker, Herbert Crooker, George Haskell, Frederic Scribner and Cecil Stevens.

The Commercial Department has handled a great deal of the typing for the faculty and outside organizations. Their work has included the typing of envelopes, reports, letters, hectographing, cutting stencils, transcription from shorthand, bookkeeping, programs for recitals, dramas, contests, news for the Advertiser, Commercial Club paper and typing for Caduceus. These various projects provide excellent practice in actual office training and responsibility since every student must be working on an entirely different project. This work does not include the regular class requirements.

Various awards, too numerous to mention, have been won by the typing and shorthand students. These include 50-word typing certificates, 40-50-60-word typing pins, Competent Typist Certificate and Pin, Order of Artistic Typist Certificates (Junior and Senior), Order of Gregg Artists (Shorthand).

Middle row, left to right: Virginia Anderson, Maxine Richardson, Lillian Heikkinen, Constance Young, Margaret Anderson, Miss Wood, Beatrice Gallant, Ernestine Hutchins, Margaret Bradbury, Eleanor Roberts.

GLEE CLUB

Thirty voices singing in harmony is never unpleasant to the ear, and the Girls' Glee Club of Norway High always "strives to please." Draw your own conclusions! To be sure, sometimes that stanza, or that chorus, or that high F has to be rehearsed quite assiduously for the proper tone, but harmony generally reigns.

In the fall, try-outs are held for prospective members. The ones selected are classed as first sopranos, second sopranos and altos, and they sing their respective parts in nearly all of the songs. If, however, some selection has only two parts, all the sopranos combine to carry the melody.

Hour rehearsals are held once a week for the group as a whole, but individual rehearsals are also in order when the club turns from its music and presents a play like "Mrs. Coran Apple and Her Corps" for example. If a girl is absent at three successive rehearsals without a very good excuse, she is automatically dropped from the club. The words of all the songs to be presented on any program are learned by the participants so that more general uniformity of stage appearance can be maintained.

The girls have had two major appearances this year: they formed a pleasing background for the opening and closing choruses of the play "Blind Dates" and they gave two groups of songs at the annual Musical Clubs' entertainment. The numbers they sang at this time were "On the Lagoon," by Wilson; "I Hear the Bees A'Hummin' " by Zamecnik; "Happy-Go-Lucky Antonio," by Wilson; "When de Banjo Plays," by Tillotson.

The members of the club are: Beatrice Gallant, Laura E. Yates, Lillian Heikkinen, Maxine Richardson, Elizabeth Ariel, Rosina Sharon, Lucy Kimball, Althea Millett, Margaret Anderson, Frances McAllister, Frances Blaquiere, Lona Noble, Margaret Bradbury, Madalyn Meader, Ernestine Hutchins, Virginia Frost, Virginia Anderson, Eleanor Roberts, Constance Young, Leonide McIntyre, Esther French, Laura Ethridge, Carlene Gammon, Christine Nelson, Ruth Buswell, Lempi Paakkonen, Edna Robbins, Hilda Logan.

ter environment. That sounds paradoxical in relation to the first point of adaptability,—and yet if we have any sense of religious values at all, if we are conscious of moral responsibility, if we have a conscience,—we shall not be satisfied to leave this world until we may leave it better than it was before we came.

And this is religion that we shall worship God as we serve man. This means the alleviation of suffering, the opening the eyes of those blinded by prejudice and bigotry, the healing of those broken by man-made systems, the eradication of injustice, the cultivation of friendliness and respect toward our fellow-man. It is all of this,—and yet it is more.

It is the visualizing of spiritual and moral values in a world predisposed toward the supremacy of the precious gold out of all that which glistens. It is the realization that religion holds truths which change,—though in each age they may be interpreted. A long time ago, men said, "Thou shalt not steal." and today we holds aloft the standard of honesty and integrity. Honesty is still the best policy,—not because religion has successfully forced man to swallow this principle, but because the race experience has made real progress in carrying out that maxim.

I suggest that we must first learn ourselves and then teach others that in spite of this machine age and the tendencies to make robots rather than men, that the individual man must pursue again the ideals that must seek to discover and reveal the spiritual values of honor and truth, faith, and love, which will continue to abide when all else has passed away.

It was exactly this which Jesus did with such effectiveness,—though with apparent defeat. To Him life must be worthwhile or it was no life. To Him the Kingdom of God, not the Kingdom of Rome or the power of money, nor the prestige of social favor, was paramount. To Him all else was worthless if it contained everything, but lost his integrity. And He gave his life in the belief that despite all signs to the contrary, there were certain things which were positive that present world, things which the man at his best believed so strongly that they could not be eradicated from the experience of the race.

And in the third place, in addition to adaptability and realization, or reformation, you will wish, of course, to attain happiness. Yet this is no third point, but simply a derivative of the other two. For happiness can never be the supreme goal of man,— but must ever be a by-product of his eternal striving after the best. For happiness no less has its moral implications and spiritual characteristics. And some of us have so recently learned how wide of the mark we have been aiming, in trying to find our salvation where there is no safety, our peace where there is only restless striving and our success envying,—our happiness where there is no lasting joy.

Irving Lewisohn, in his excellent article The Fallacy of Progress, in this month's Atlantic, in noting how this mechanical age with its smooth and thin philosophy of life had fooled us all, says that man had at last discovered "that there was no new way of being happy... and that the means by which a man could obtain happiness had not changed, either. And that these means, barring a remedy for either crippling poverty or ill health, were wholly spiritual and moral in their nature; and that this possible happiness, this balance between desire and fulfillment, between dream and day, cannot be won without a self-discipline that not only leads to an ultimate resignation, a consent to permanent limitations, but must find its satisfaction therein." WILSON'S MILLS

Bennett Presented Gift of Appreciation —Death of Albert Jodrie.

Mrs. A. D. Cameron has returned from Brattleboro, where she has been visiting her sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Pullen of Portland were guests of her mother, Mrs. Lizzie Bennett, recently.

A dance was held at the Magalloway Town Hall, Friday evening, May 12th, with music by the Glow Worm Orchestra of Errol. During the evening, Lewis Leavitt presented E. S. Bennett with a leather traveling bag from his friends as a token of their appreciation for his work in helping secure the resolve for the survey of the Wilson's Mills-Oquossoc road. The engineer, E. H. Merrill, is expected the early part of the week and it is hoped that the survey will be started soon.

Albert Jodrie, a native of Nova Scotia, passed away very suddenly, May 14 at the home of Edward Caldwell, Magalloway Plantation. He was employed by the Brown Company in this section for many years and had also been a New Hampshire game warden. The remains were taken to Colebrook and placed in the tomb, while a search is being made for relatives.

Mrs. Lester Littlehale was taken sick, Sunday afternoon, May 21, and a doctor from Colebrook was called. Monday morning she was taken to Lewiston, where she is in the hospital.

NORTH HARRISON

It is hoped that Almon Rowe will gain since being treated at a Portland hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. George Burnell brought Mrs. Cora Rowe to see her son, May 21. Mrs. Rowe has returned to her work at West Baldwin.

Mrs. Queenie Ridlon has returned to Sweden after being at her brother's for nearly a week.

The teacher was called home on account of a fire near her home in Denmark.

Mrs. Harold Caswell has had a very ill turn from which she does not gain.

Earl Dresser carried Almon Rowe to the hospital at Portland.

Roy Dresser carried Mrs. Queenie Ridlon and Mrs. Almon Rowe to West Baldwin. He also carried them to Portland the next day, bringing Almon Rowe home from the hospital.

The Masons turned out and built pasture fence besides doing other small chores at Almon Rowe's.

Frank Stokes, Walter Whitman and Harold Caswell worked on the water at Rowe's until they got it running into the house again.

Lena Pulkkinen is at home for a few weeks, with her parents.

Earl Dresser has Almon Rowe's horse to work with his pair. Three horses will do some work. Mr. Dresser is working for Mr. Starbird, doing the spring's work.

FRYEBURG

Nearly everyone in this vicinity are getting their spring planting started.

Bernard Gallagher ploughed for Nelson Bartlett.

Mrs. Joseph Byron has returned from Aroostook, where she and her daughter, Mildred, spent a week with relatives.

Mrs. James Maddock, Mrs. Clayton Wentworth went to Bridgton one day recently with Mr. and Mrs. Vernon McAllister.

Preston Ridlon is working at the novelty mill.

Clarence Haley was operated on for a severe case of appendicitis.

Lloyd and Edward Bartlett have been sick with tonsilitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Whitaker are rejoicing over the birth of a son, born Mothers' Day.

Nearly every man in Fryeburg went to Denmark to fight forest fire.

The chimney in Mrs. Harriman's store burned out and the pumper was called, but no damage done.

Marie Wentworth has been at Mechanic Falls for a few days.

Mrs. Bill Rogers has been at Portland for the past week, for a rest. Mrs. Rogers has been in ill health for a long time.

Linda McAllister is working in the novelty mill and staying with her brother and wife.

A number from this vicinity attended the dance at West Brownfield, Saturday night, May 20.

Webster Ela helped B. A. Prouty, recently.

Frank Stearns and daughter, Catherine, were callers at E. N. Bartlett's.

Guy Whitaker bought three nice pigs of Irving Page.

BRIDGTON HIGHLANDS

Mrs. Joseph Snyder with her son, John, were recent week end guests at the Ridgeway.

Mr. and Mrs. William Chamberlain have opened their summer home here, after having spent the winter in New York.

Ben Gibbs and his tractor are busy breaking up the ground for the spring planting of Mr. Hyde, who has leased the Gibbs farm.

Abbie Mead Sawyer of Foxboro, Mass. is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Sarah B. Mead.

At the chicken pie supper of the North Bridgton church, it almost seemed as though we were back in Walker Memorial Hall, there were so many of our own people present. Mr. and Mrs. James Fitzpatrick, Mary Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Addison Flint, Raymond Flint, Arthur and Horace Flint and Mrs. Mabelle Robinson. A fine program was furnished, which included a piano solo by Raymond Flint, a recitation by Mary Fitzpatrick, as well as a brilliant interpretation of a piano solo and accordion selections by James Fitzpatrick, which set all feet jigging. These three are artists in their own lines and always give great pleasure to an audience.

Mrs. John Bertwell, nee Elizabeth Sanborn, accompanied by her three children, has taken a cottage for the summer in Shorey's Grove.

Frank Smith is on a short visit to his home in Malden, Mass.

Edward Allen is in Tamworth, N. H., doing some monumental lettering. His fine work has a wide appreciation.

George Wint Soule is employed by Arthur Sanborn.

BEWARE THE HOME RACKETEER

A "home racket" is now being worked in various parts of the country.

This year a great many patriotic citizens are preparing to do new building and make improvements on existing property, in order to provide employment and put money to work. The home racketeer is taking advantage of this. He is always, of course, a perfect stranger and his method of operation is to get a home owner to sign what he believes to be an improvement contract, under guise of providing much needed employment. In most instances, doubtless, the owner signs it without a careful reading. In reality, the document he signs is a lien on his property which is at once transferred to a third party, who then forces the home-owner to pay, whether the stipulated improvements are made or not. In no case, according to reports, is the work ever finished as agreed.

The moral is don't do business with strangers. Do it with a concern which is known to you, and preferably one in your town. It will do the work as agreed and at an honest price. It will give local workmen labor. The money you spend with it will go to its employes, and to the employes of numerous other industries which sell the local concern supplies, and so on. Put those idle dollars to work in honest hands.

Yes, it's time for a national property-renovation campaign, but there's no room in it for fraud. Do all the improving you can but go to your local dealers and workmen. Remember that the cost of improvements of all kinds now is the lowest in years—and remember, too, that jobs are better and cheaper than charity.

My friend is one before whom I may be sincere. Before him I may think aloud.
—Emerson.

Farm Loans

A large number of financial problems of farmers are being presented daily to the agent of the Farm Loan Commissioner, who is housed in the Federal Land Bank at Springfield, Mass. Farmers with all degrees of indebtedness, ranging from the farmer who has no fam mortgage but is in debt to local merchants to the farmer who is virtually inundated by debt, present their problems.

To clear this situation somewhat and to explain some of the things which can be done under the provisions of the Act, the Farm Loan Commissioner's agent, Charles A. Windholz, whose office is in the Federal Land Bank, says:

"Broadly speaking, the Farm Loan Commissioner is authorized to make loans to refinance any indebtedness on the farm, to provide working capital for farm operations and to aid farmers to redeem or repurchase farm property owned by them, which was foreclosed at any time prior to July 1, 1931.

"Although in this refinancing of farm indebtedness it is anticipated that some first farm mortgage loans will be made, they probably will be the exception rather than the rule for it is possible for farmers to secure first farm mortgage loans elsewhere. For instance, the Federal Land Banks have been given authority by Congress to sell a new type of Federal farm loan bond the interest on which is guaranteed by the United States and to lend the proceeds of such sale at a rate of not to exceed 4 1-2 per cent during the first five years of the loan. These banks also may exchange these bonds with holders of first mortgages. However, farmers do not have to finance their first mortgage indebtedness through a Federal Land Bank nor do they have to get a new first mortgage if the present holders are not pressing them for payment.

"It would be advantageous to borrowers whose property can qualify for a loan from the Federal Land Bank to secure first mortgage loans through national farm loan associations at an initial rate of not to exceed 4 1-2 per cent interest per annum for five years rather than pay not to exceed 5 per cent interest for a Farm Loan Commissioner's first mortgage loan.

"If the farmer offers, in addition to a first or second mortgage on the farm real estate, personal security or chattel mortgages on crops or livestock, the loan cannot be made for longer than thirteen years but during the first three years payment of interest only will be required if the borrower is not in default in respect to any other condition or covenant of his mortgage. From then on, interest plus a payment on the principal will be required annually or semi-annually so that the loan will be retired at the end of the loan period. If the loan is made on farm real estate only and is for the purpose of reducing or refinancing an existing mortgage, it can be for a longer period. Regardless of the amount of collateral offered, the Farm Loan Commissioner can not lend more than $5,000 to any one person. Further, the Commissioner's loan, together with all prior mortgages or other evidences of indebtedness secured by such property, may not exceed 75 per cent of the appraised value of the property. In making such loans the normal value of the farm for agricultural purposes, as appraised under the provisions of the Federal Farm Loan Act, is considered.

"Where the aggregate of an existing first mortgage on the applicant's property and the amount of a second mortgage requested of the Farm Loan Commissioner does not exceed $5,000, loans will be made by the Commissioner only in case the holder of the first mortgage agrees that during a period of three years he will not proceed against the farmer and the mortgaged property for a default in the payment of principal unless in the meantime the Commissioner consents in writing to such proceedings. When the aggregate of such first and second mortgages exceeds $5,000 loans will be made by the Commissioner only in case the holder of the first mortgage agrees, to the satisfaction of the Commissioner, that he will not proceed against the farmer and the mortgaged property on account of default under the terms of the first mortgage during a period of five years unless in the meantime the Commissioner consents in writing to such proceeding.

"It is anticipated that there will be a good deal of scaling down on the part of the first and second mortgage holders and other holders of obligations of the farmer before he is refinanced with the assistance of a Commissioner's loan."

BUCKFIELD

There will be a preschool conference at Masonic Hall, Buckfield, on Wednesday, June 7th, at 2:00-4:00 E. S. T. Parents who have children who enter school next fall are invited to bring them for examination as well as smaller children.

EAST SWEDEN

Mrs. Eva Ridlon spent the day, recently, with her daughter, Mrs. Gerald Bishop, and family.

Hayward Smart of Oxford visited at his home one day and tried his luck fishing.

Hugh Smart has caught some nice strings of fish this spring from Chute's Pond.

Henry Shaw has traded cars with some Bridgton parties.

Ray Kneeland is busy farming with his tractor in town and elsewhere.

Queenie R. Ridlon spent the day, recently with Carrie Flint.

Winifred Smart of Auburn spent Sunday, May 21, at her home here.

Uncle Zeke and Hulda Visit the Stores

The farm house is all torn out. With a grandson and granddaughter passing through the great tribulation of graduating at the high school this week, what could one expect? Hulda, naturally, is right up to the front line of excitement. We drove to Norway Village early in the week for necessary articles to put the youngsters through in style.

I took charge of affairs at the L. F. Pike Co. and selected according to my taste. Was surprised to find so many artcles appropriate for graduation gifts. Nobby suits, shirts, Cheney silk ties, 50c and $1.00; fancy silk hosiery, 25c and 35c, rayon underwear, 45c a garment; handkerchiefs and a nice assortment of Panama, Toyo, leghorns and other hats. The grandson was fitted out from sole to cowlick.

At Z. L. Merchant's store wife Hulda was trumps and had the time of her life selecting pretty things for the granddaughter's exit from school. She also bought for weeks ahead from the large stock of piece goods in all the wanted materials and fashionable shades. The ready-to-wear department furnished a number of summer dresses, remarkably low in price for the high quality.

After our budgets were safely deposited in the family buggy, we dropped into the McAllister Store for the mate to the Jumbo ice cream cone we shared together last week. There's a lot of refreshment for a nickle. Choice of cream includes vanilla, chocolate, coffee, strawberry, orange-pineapple, and pistachio. That is not all, for Don has new ideas and popular ices every day.

At Ashton's, the luncheonette, in charge of Marjorie Martin, was going strong and seemed appealing. Here we found dainty refreshments correctly served about as follows: ice cream soda 10c, banana splits 10c, hamburg with all the fixings 10c, and toasted hot dogs 5c. Many other specials and tasty combinations were there and may be ordered any day or night this coming summer.

We found Stone selling a cooling and satisfying drink made of pure lime juice squeezed out while the customer waits only two minutes. We were shown the lime fruit only a short time out of San Domingo and guaranteed fresh and prime. A little syrup, ice shavings, water, and the juice of one lime is stirred into a healthful beverage, safe for the most exacting.

MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES

Rain interfered in some respects with the Tuesday morning exercises but the general program was carried out by the committee in charge.

The procession formed at G. A. R. hall and on the arrival of Co. C from Norway, commenced the march to Riverside Cemetery in the following order: Stand of colors, Shaw's Band, firing squad, Co. C., Capt. Harry Twitchell in command, Sons of Veterans and American Legion. Charles H. George and John Pierce, the only Grand Army Veterans and several Ladies of the Grand Army rode in cars. Following them were the Legion Auxiliary, Sons of Veterans Auxiliary, Camp Fire Girls and school children.

At the cemetery the band played a selection, prayer was offered by Rev. W. W. Lyon and reading, Lincoln's Gettysburg address by Miss Hester Ordway. After the graves were decorated a squad fired a volley.

The procession re-formed and marched to the monument in Moore Park then to Association Hall where a program was carried out as follows:

Selections ....Shaw's Band
Reading, Gen. Logan's Orders........................Dr. C. L. Buck
Prayer ....Rev. H. H. Marr
Vocal Selections ....Miss Reta Shaw, accompanied by the band and piano
Address......Rev. W. W. Lyon of Norway

After this service all children who marched were given ice cream and a dinner was served in G. A. R. Hall for members of the patriotic societies and their guests.

MISS MARTHA E. HERSEY

The remains of Miss Martha E. Hersey were brought from Hartford, Ct., where she died on May 25th, to South Paris, and the funeral was held at Huff's Funeral Parlors Sunday afternoon, attended by Rev. R. H. Colby. Burial was in Riverside Cemetery.

Miss Hersey was the daughter of Tristram and Arvilla (Record) Merrill Hersey and lived in the well known Hersey house on Cross St., between Brook and Hill Streets, and was born Dec. 24, 1848. She graduated at Mt. Holyoke Seminary in 1871 and had been a high school principal for many years.

Miss Hersey was a frequent visitor in her old home in South Paris, the last visit was in 1931, when she spent two weeks with old friends.

Miss Hersey was the last one of the family of Tristram Hersey, and leaves only distant relatives.

Mrs. Joseph Poole, son Herbert and daughter Eleanor, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Greeley of Yarmouth, were among those who were here to attend the funeral.

CONCERT BY THE SCHOOL BAND

The school band recently organized made its first public appearance in a concert at the high school building, Wednesday evening. There are twenty members, trained and directed by Leland Whipple, who has been instrumental instructor in the schools at Fort Fairfield.

The band opened and closed the program with four selections nicely executed considering the members have been playing together only two months. Mr. Whipple came in December and secured pupils. Only one had ever played a band instrument. He taught each student the rudiments of music and use of the instrument selected. The concert was a practical demonstration of his methods for quick results.

Others who assisted on the program were Carlene Farnham and Janette Goldsmith, vocal duet; vocal solo, Reta Shaw, "When You're Away"; Mr. Whipple, flute solo, "Long, Long, Ago" transcription and Swedish song; Shaw sisters, Reta and Marguerite, duet "Farewell to Arms." Mrs. Helen Shaw was piano accompanist except for the last duet.

Mr. Whipple spoke highly of the musical talent shown and proposed next school year to coach a band that would make good in the state contest. Paying the small dues has been a sacrifice for many, on account of industrial conditions and several instruments have been rented for the same reason. In some towns the instruments are bought by the public spirited citizens when the individual performers are not able to bear the expense.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cushman and baby, of Fall River, Mass., are guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Cushman.
